

Man Frees Hostage After Carter OKs Telephone Talk

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — A black gunman who had tried to drive whites off this planet under threat of a curse released his white policeman hostage of 45 hours unharmed today.

The release came shortly after President Carter repeated during a nationally televised news conference his earlier promise to speak with the ex-Marine after the hostage, Capt. Leo Keglovic, was freed.

Cory Moore, 25, emptied the bullets from his handguns and the guns and ammunition to Keglovic, 49, who then led Moore into custody outside the City Hall office that had been their home since Monday afternoon.

"Everybody's out, everybody's safe, nobody's hurt," Police Chief Craig Merchant said moments later.

The surrender came despite President Carter's refusal to grant Moore's demands that he talk with the ex-Marine before Keglovic was freed and that he apologize publicly for historic white oppression of blacks.

Moore, who got a television set by which to monitor news reports Monday night at the same time he released his other hostage, Shelley Ann Kiggans, 17, of Warrensville Heights, watched Carter's nationally televised White House news conference before giving up, authorities said.

In that news conference, Carter promised to talk with Moore after Keglovic was freed.

Carter said he weighed the danger of setting a precedent but didn't elaborate.

Even before Keglovic became visible, his family members hugged and cheered each other and were led in to see him.

Moore "surrendered right after the news conference," Merchant said. He said the delay in his appearance outside City Hall was because police needed "a few minutes to get him unwound."

He said Moore was to talk with the White House, but there was no immediate word as to when.

Carter Lifts Ban On Red Journeys

Gunmen Hold Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gunmen are believed holding several persons hostage on the fifth floor of the B'Nai B'Rith International Headquarters building here, police reported today.

A radio reporter at the scene said he had seen one man with a shotgun inside a window of the building before persons inside covered the windows with heavy paper or cardboard.

Police set up barricades at the scene about seven blocks north of the White House.

D.C. police officer A.W. Bell said an unknown number of men armed with rifles attempted a holdup at the building.

Shots were exchanged and at least three persons were injured.

The hold-up men found themselves trapped and took over the 7th floor of the building, where Bell said, they were holding about 20 hostages.

Using rollers, the men painted windows along the width of the rear of the 7th floor of the building, apparently to block from view of police sharpshooters outside.

A police helicopter circled the area, which was cordoned off from normally heavy lunchhour traffic.

Mrs. Carter: Life In White House Not All Steaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter is weighing some important policy decision, he doesn't have to ask his wife for her advice.

"I tell him what I think," says First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

In an exclusive interview Tuesday, the First Lady also said she disapproves of couples living together without being married because "I'm kind of old fashioned about things like that."

She said she wouldn't hesitate to send one of her children to a psychiatrist if necessary, and that she hopes her daughter, Amy, will receive sex education both at home and at school.

And she doesn't serve liquor at the White House, she said, because "I just don't want to. Not for religious reasons. I just don't want to Besides, I'm saving the taxpayers' money."

In her first interview since becoming First Lady, Mrs. Carter offered a glimpse into her family's new life, her goals and dreams.

Sitting behind a cluttered desk in her small quarters on the opposite side of the White House from her husband's

"He wanted the President to talk to him before he would release the hostage, and we wanted it the other way around," said Sgt. Larry Shanker.

Moore then insisted that Carter make an apology on local television this morning for "all the misdeeds done to blacks from the year 1619 to 1977."

Moore has been insisting on talking with Carter almost since he took two hostages Monday afternoon. The second captive, Shelley Kiggans, 17, was released unharmed after Moore was given a television set so he could monitor news reports of the siege.

She said Moore walked into city hall, fired three shots and took her and Keglovic into a room. At times Moore tied them up, but he didn't harm them, she said.

Moore, who is armed with his own handgun and Keglovic's gun, has allowed food and insulin to be sent in for the officer, but has refused himself to eat, fearing the food might be poisoned. He has refused to talk to immediate relatives but had spoken by phone to friends, black reporters and black leaders.

Although Moore was described as calm, officials and those who talked with him said he keeps returning to the subject of white oppression of blacks.

Moore has vowed he would place a "curse from hell" against whites if they didn't leave the planet with their "bombs, guns, bullets and ignorance" within seven days.

Moore was released from the Marines in 1973 as a private first class. His former wife, Leah, said her husband became bitter against whites after he left the Marines.

Ernest Wagley, a parttime instructor at Cuyahoga Community College where Moore was a student, said, "The type of thing that he is espousing at Warrensville, he would espouse in class quite frequently. He was extremely strong in his belief in general about blacks and where blacks should be today."

American travel to four Communist nations.

In repudiating the statement on Chile by United Nations envoy Brady Tyson, Carter acknowledged that the United States "has been at fault in some instances" for infringing on human rights accords. But he did not put the 1973 overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende in that category.

He said, instead, that the American travel ban was such an instance, and that it will be lifted effective March 18. That will permit U.S. citizens to travel to Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea and Cambodia.

Tyson said in Geneva that he exceeded his instructions but did not act contrary to them in apologizing for what he said was American involvement in the ouster of Allende.

"I think the remarks made by the delegate concerning our past involvement in Chilean internal affairs was inappropriate," he told his third White House news conference. Carter said a Senate committee has not found any proof that the United States was involved in Allende's overthrow but only in financial aid to some political groups in Chile.

"The statement made by our delegate was made on his own and does not represent the view of our government," Carter said.

He linked that episode with the broader question of human rights under the Helsinki agreement, saying that the administration remains concerned about that issue. Carter noted that administration officials will go to Belgrade later this year to join in grand Oval Office, Mrs. Carter cupped her chin in her hands and talked for some 40 minutes about both foreign policy and personal concerns.

Mrs. Carter, who has an interest in mental health programs, said no one in her immediate family has had psychiatric care, but if one of her children needed it, "I'd seek it for them. Of course, I would."

As for 9-year-old Amy's sex education: "I hope we can talk to her at home. I hope she'll get it at school. I think it's very important, but I haven't thought about at what age it should begin."

She said that even if criminal penalties for smoking marijuana were removed, she wouldn't want her family or friends to use it "because not enough research has been done to see how harmful it is."

And if someone were to light up in the White House?

"I would disapprove," she said.

The President said last week that the taxpayers are not paying for the Carters to live in the White House and Mrs. Carter expanded on that. "Every bit of food that is served to the family

Army Germ Tests Bared

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A censored report on 20 years of secret, domestic germ-warfare tests has prompted plans for a lawsuit by the family of a man who died in 1950 after Navy ships launched bacteria in San Francisco Bay.

But most officials expressed only surprise at the report, made public Tuesday, which revealed Army tests conducted in highway and subway tunnels, stockyards, on military bases and at sea off numerous populated areas.

"The family is determined to proceed with legal action. We wanted to have as much evidence available as possible," said Edward Nevin III, an attorney whose grandfather, Edward Nevin, died of a heart infection allegedly caused by Seriatta Marcescens bacteria.

It is this bacteria that was released from ships off San Francisco in September 1950, Army officials testified on Tuesday before the Senate subcommittee on health and scientific resources.

Their report said the Seriatta Marcescens bacteria spread up to 50 miles inland, but it had been believed that the bacteria would not endanger humans.

Two years later, they said, researchers became alarmed by an outbreak of infectious disease related to Seriatta Marcescens among San Francisco Bay area residents who had been hospitalized at about the time of the September 1950 test.

Despite the Army's alarm, however, California apparently noticed no strange illnesses. Bob Nance of the state Department of Health, said record checks for San Francisco and other cities from the time of the tests "found no unusual health situation."

Nevin said he felt the results of his private investigation of Army domestic germ tests from 1949 to 1969, combined with material contained in the Army report, were sufficient to file a claim.

He said the claim, which must be presented before the Army can be sued, would be filed within 30 days. The Army, which has denied any link between the tests and Nevin's death, would have six months in which to consider its merits, he said.

The Army report also said a farm owned by the University of Wisconsin was one of four sites where 48 tests involving "pathogenic agents," which are disease causing, were performed.

Glenn Pound, dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, said he believed the report referred to work on Newcastle disease, a virus afflicting chickens and other poultry.

Dr. B.C. Easterday of the university's department of veterinary science said Newcastle disease is a virus that affects poultry and which resembles bronchitis in its early stages, but later leads to incoordination, tremors and twitching of the head.

Assembly Readies Major Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After several weeks of dabbling in mostly minor legislation, majority Democrats apparently are ready to begin acting on significant measures in the legislature.

The House Rules Committee scheduled floor votes today on bills permitting local option elections on the sale of high powered beer (six per cent) and wine on Sunday.

Representatives also were to vote on a once-vetted (by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes) bill protecting homeowners from double liability in home construction and repair contracts.

The latter, a repealer of the mechanics' lien law, for one and two-family residential units, has been in at least the last two state platforms of the Democratic party.

Rhodes sidetracked it last year after being presented with a highly technical measure he said failed to accomplish the intended purpose. Even some Democrats agreed as his veto stood.

The House, moving somewhat faster than the Senate, plans to vote Thursday on another measure vetoed by the governor last session. It requires automatic smoke detector systems in high rise apartment buildings 75 feet in height or taller.

To no avail, some members of the Senate Rules Committee attempted Tuesday to schedule a floor vote on a constitutional amendment repealing Ohio's antiquated $750,000 debt limit.

However, Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, objected, and Assistant Majority Leader M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, was unable to muster the needed votes in the absence of Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

Ocasek and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, both have defended this year's slower than usual pace of the legislature—in session nine weeks now. The essence of their comments have been that there is no need to rush important bills.

In addition, the winter energy crisis and deliberations on a skin tight budget for the next two years have been cited by them as extenuating circumstances.

Committee actions again Tuesday overshadowed floor deliberations, in both chambers.

The Senate approved 31-1 a measure that deletes from the law an exemption from jury duty for members of the Ohio National Guard. It now goes to the House.

By overwhelming margins, the House sent the upper chamber a proposal to facilitate withdrawals of cash from joint bank accounts after the death of one partner. Democrats prevailed along party lines on another seeking to resolve a political feud in Cincinnati over operation of its city-owned railroad. Trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railway now are all Republicans. The bill would put the power to name trustees in the hands of Democratic Mayor James Luken.

Tax Rebate Measure Clears U.S. House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fights over plans for a $50-per-person rebate and a new business tax break are likely to continue during Senate action on the House-approved version of President Carter's program to stimulate the economy.

The tax reduction bill, worth $43.1 billion during the next 31 months, was passed Tuesday by the House, 282 to 131, after battles over features giving 200 million Americans up to $50 each this spring and summer and creating a new job-stimulating tax cut mainly for smaller businesses.

A key vote on the rebates came when the House, by 219 to 194, rejected a Republican-backed attempt to substitute and across-the-board tax cut in place of the rebates.

The Senate Finance Committee continues hearings today on the tax cut measure. Senate Republicans also oppose the rebates and favor a permanent tax cut plan instead.

By 312 to 103, the House accepted its Ways and Means Committee's changes, including a phaseout of the $50 rebates for persons making between $25,000 and $30,000. Families or individuals with income of $30,000 or more would get no rebates.

Carter's recommended $50 special payment to each beneficiary of Social Security, railroad retirement, or Supplemental Security Income for the aged, blind and disabled was expanded to include those getting welfare under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, coal miners suffering black-lung disease, and persons getting veterans pensions.

While the tax rebates would go out in May and June, most of the special payments would be mailed in late summer.

The bill would permanently reduce taxes for 45.5 million couples or individuals, mostly with incomes under $15,000. This tax cut, to be reflected in paychecks starting in May, would come by raising the standard deduction for taxpayers who do not itemize deductions.

and to our guests is paid for out of our personal funds," Mrs. Carter said.

She added that the Carters pay for their clothes and such items as dry cleaning, but said she has no idea how much the family spends a week for food. She still hasn't received her food bill for February.

"We eat things like ham and turkey casserole," she said. "And today (daughter-in-law) Annette asked if we could have spaghetti one night. We don't eat steak and roast beef every night."

Asked if the Carters are supporting their two married sons and their families, Mrs. Carter said, "Jeff helps pay for everything. Chip works part-time for the Democratic National Committee, and Jimmy pays Chip out of his personal funds because he needs him. Chip's a great help. We give him a check every month. Jeff and Annette have worked and saved money, and they use their own money. We pay for food."

Jeff Carter, 24, is a student at George Washington University. And Chip Carter, who will be 27 next month, makes about $8,000 at the Democratic headquarters. His wife, Caron, had a baby this month.

Mrs. Carter said her goal as First Lady is "for every person who needs mental health care to be able to receive it close to his home, and to remove the stigma from mental health care so people will be free to talk about it and seek help. It's been taboo for so long to admit you had a mental health problem."

As honorary chairwoman of the President's mental health commission, she plans to travel around the country meeting with professionals, parents of mentally afflicted children and possibly patients.

Mrs. Carter will continue to lobby for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, but she is not sure if it will become law. "If it's not ratified, I guess we can get it introduced again and start over. But it's so discouraging," she said.

Asked how she can ask the news media to ignore Amy, then take her places where she will be in the public eye, Mrs. Carter snapped:

"She has always been in the public eye. Amy was three when Jimmy was

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today, extending the decline that set in late in Tuesday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell more than 3 points in early trading, and losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the rally in stock prices last week and Monday had failed to impress many investors because it came on sluggish volume.

Tuesday's weak showing seemed to convince traders that the upswing had run its course.

Looming in the immediate future was the scheduled report Thursday on the government's wholesale price index for February, which was expected to show the adverse effects of eastern cold and western drought.

Today's early prices included Digital Equipment, down 1/4 at 41 1/2; Xerox, off 1/4 at 50 1/4, and Texaco, up 1/4 at 27 1/4.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 3.08 to 952.04.

Advancing and declining issues on the NYSE were virtually even.

Big Board volume totaled 19.52 million shares, up from 17.41 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .19 to 54.83.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .16 at 111.42.

Lady Clementine's Plight

Britain has been the source of much sad news in recent years, but one of the most depressing items was the revelation that 91-year-old Lady Spencer-Churchill has had to resort to selling some of her furniture and other family possessions to pay her rent and nursing expenses.

Britain, ironically, does not treat its retired first families as royally as does the United States. There are no princely pensions, paid staffs and other accoutrements.

Nor did Britain's wartime prime minister amass the kind of personal fortune many American officials do as a result of public office. When Winston Churchill died in 1964, his estate after taxes was valued at slightly more than $400,000, which was divided principally between his widow, son and two daughters.

Ill health combined with currency devaluations and Britain's general economic prostration have brought Lady Clementine to her present predicament. It is a sad chapter in the life of a family many on both sides of the Atlantic remember with a special fondness.

$100 Window

By JIM BISHOP

He lived behind bars for a number of years, but Eddie was a born smiler. He was dark and broad-shouldered and he worked the hundred dollar window at race tracks. Sooner or later, he met all the big bettors.

He grinned from behind his cage, punching out tickets and counting them carefully and snapping a rubber band over them. I have seen Eddie punch one out for himself, but these were rare occasions. When Ed bet a hundred, it was because he thought that a certain horse, on a certain day in a cheap race, was a stickout.

He worked the tracks in the East six days a week. He was usually down under the stands and he could hear the roar of the crowd at the finish, but he seldom saw a race.

Boss Frank Hague was a big bettor but he seldom showed up for Eddie. Hague sent his deputy, Johnny Malone, to place his bets. The Jersey mayor could lose a bundle without a squawk.

Hague's successor, John V. Kenny ("the little guy"), loved to bet big. He walked up to Eddie's window cascading a bunch of quarters between his hands. Then he would pick a number and slide the expensive lettuce into the window.

Saul Silberman owned the race track — Tropical Park — and tried to go broke betting. For awhile, he had his own betting machine in his office. Silberman was about as tall as a well-kept lawn. The last time I saw him he said, "Don't write me up as a diseased gambler. I've got my betting down to $7,000 a day."

The biggest bet Eddie handled was from a short, middle-aged stranger. He had two fists full of big bills when he arrived at the window. The track was Belmont. The year, 1943.

"Let me have $60,000 to win the Count Fleet," he whispered. Eddie took the money and gave it to a cashier to count. It consisted of $20,000 in $500 bills; $40,000 in hundreds.

Eddie numbed a finger punching out 600 tickets. Count Fleet won easily. He paid $2.10 for each $2 bet. The stranger — not seen before or since — won $3,000.

Joe E. Lewis had a heavy hand with money. He loved to go to Gulfstream and Hialeah with Kelly and me. She brought caviar and saltines for him, which irritated the head waiter. He chewed and drank whiskey. Often, he would hand a few hundred to me and say, "I'm goin' with the jock. I'll play the four horse."

The truth, Joe E. couldn't go broke because he had trust funds coming up every few months. Nobody had to toss a benefit for Joe. And yet, watching him select slow horses day after day I felt that the only thing he ever got out of Florida was a pale tan.

There was a woman from Boston who would show up at the hundred dollar window a couple of times a year. The mutuel men called her "The Lady in Red." She always bet the odds — on favorite to show and she always bet $20,000. She didn't make that much but she didn't lose much.

Duke Alard was a favorite at the hundred dollar window. He would bet $10,000 on a race, but he lived in a cheap room with a character named Scotty the Clocker.

On the way home from the track, they would buy a pound of baloney, a half-pound of potato salad, four seeded rolls and some pickles. They sat studying horse charts all night, eating off a penknife.

Somehow, they always lost it all near the end of a meet. When the last dime was gone, Scotty the Clocker would reach into his big coat and whip out a pint of gin. He unscrewed the cap and emptied it in one drought.

One of the big bettors died. In his will he asked that his ashes be scattered across the Garden State Track. On the finish line, of course. Another brilliant loser was Chicago Dutch. He won $5,600 at Monmouth Park and put it on a three-horse entry to show.

He couldn't lose. But he did. A nag named Marriage took it all at 40-to-1. Chicago Dutch returned to Eddie's window, reached in and shook hands. "Pal," he murmured, "I'll see you next year."

Eddie said he had never met Damon Runyon. It was Runyon who wrote: "The horse is a stupid animal. You can get 10,000 men to pay to watch 10 horses run, but you would not get 10 horses to watch 10,000 men run."

Eddie O'donnell was always good for some track stories. He was the man behind the hundred dollar window...

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

As a former Pickaway countian, and long-time friend of the late Charles H. Radcliff, I join with countless thousands who mourn the passing of this popular, kindly man who became a legend in his own time.

County residents will long remember the efficiency, courtesy and friendliness of the late, former sheriff. During the course of his many years of public service as sheriff, Pickaway County came to be known far and wide as one of the better centers of law enforcement.

Charles Radcliff lived to see the sheriff's office gain additional prominence and respect through the diligent efforts of his son, Dwight, the present sheriff.

Charley had to be a proud father when he observed the department's expansion, modernization and innovations instituted by his son, Dwight. Continuing in the fine tradition of his father, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff heads an A-1 department.

The fact that Pickaway County is a desirable and preferred place in which to live and work is due in no small part to men like Charles and Dwight Radcliff.

Yours very truly,
CHARLES E. DIEHLMAN

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Pickaway County Heart Association, please accept my sincere thanks for your help in the 1977 Heart Fund Drive. Since so many of you have asked us to save the expense of sending you a personal thank-you note, we have chosen to acknowledge your efforts in this manner.

The main emphasis of the American Heart Association is research into cardiovascular disease, and your help in providing these funds for the upcoming year is a very valuable contribution to this program.

If anyone you know ever has a heart attack and lives to talk about it, he will be as grateful as we are that you took the time to care.

I would especially like to thank my three vice-chairmen: Richard Fischer, the city chairman; Chuck Pritchard, the rural chairman; and Drexel Poling, the business chairman, who have all done outstanding jobs in this year's Heart Fund Drive.

Again Thanks,
MICHAEL E. GERON, M.D.

Appeals Court Frees 2 Commissioners

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Lawrence County commissioners were free today after enduring brief jail stays for contempt of court in refusing to sign purchase orders for the county's juvenile and probate judge.

Common Pleas Court Judge Lloyd Burwell on Monday ordered the men to jail until they signed purchase orders for $1,000 in supplies that the judge requested.

Commission President W.H. Kaiser and member Mark Malone were jailed for two hours before they were freed by order of the 4th Court of Appeals in Steubenville. No hearing was set on the commissioners' appeal of the contempt finding.

A third member of the board, Louis Bryant, was held not in contempt after he stated he would sign the purchase orders.

Two of the three commission members must sign purchase orders to validate them.

The two who refused told the judge they did so because he allegedly had not followed proper purchasing methods. They said he ordered the equipment and supplies before taking office Jan. 3.

"I don't have to follow your procedures," the judge replied at the contempt hearing.

"You've got to pay these bills whether I do it backwards, forwards or in between. There is nothing that says I have to be polite about it," the judge added.

Metzenbaum Sets Romanian Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said Monday that his offices in Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati will try to help locate relatives who may have been involved in the earthquake in Romania last weekend.

"People who need help contacting the State Department, the International Red Cross, or the Romanian Embassy may get in touch with my offices in Ohio," Metzenbaum said. "We'll try to get answers to their questions as soon as possible."

"I don't know, Gloria... they raised the price a buck... what do you think?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our 13-year-old son has very definite enlargement of both breasts. This embarrasses him to the point that he refuses to swim or go to gym with his friends. Can anything be done about this? Will it get worse?

Mr. & Mrs. H. W., R.I.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. W.: An abnormal enlargement of the breasts in the male is known as gynecomastia. The basic cause of this is often a hormone imbalance of the male sex hormone, androgen.

Much can be done about such conditions, especially when they are recognized early, studied intensively and treated actively.

Complicated hormone studies can provide information on the nature of the hormone balance, which frequently can be readjusted.

As you already suspect, the greatest problem associated with this condition is the psychological and emotional consequences, especially at the time of puberty. Your son can use a great deal of support in this area. He must be given the feeling that his masculinity is not threatened. He must also be given the assurance that something actively is being done to control the progression of his problem. Very frequently, the total condition spontaneously disappears as the youngster passes through adolescence and into young adulthood.

When medical, or hormonal, readjustment is not effective, surgery by the plastic surgeon or the general surgeon is effective. They can remove the overabundant breast tissue through incisions that are barely visible.

The surgery is safe, recovery is rapid and the psychological rewards are enormous.

My complaint is not as serious as cancer or arthritis, but it would be a blessing if someone could tell me how to prevent the painful corns on my feet.

Miss E. B. B., Iowa

Dear Miss B.:

Only those who suffer from the anguish of painful corns can appreciate the plaintive cry, "Oh, my aching corn!"

Corns or calluses are nature's protective reaction to constant pressure on a specific area of the foot. The "little toe" is the area most susceptible to injury caused by a tight or ill-fitting shoe.

First, the skin becomes inflamed, then layer on layer of hornified skin forms as a protective corn. Now the tenderness becomes marked.

The key to the prevention of corns is, of course, properly fitting shoes. Podiatrists and orthopedists should be consulted to find out if there are any other abnormalities in the arch or the bone structure of the foot to account for repeated corns and calluses.

A Blooming Idea

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flower and Garden Show, one of the largest horticultural exhibits in the country, will run March 13 through 20.

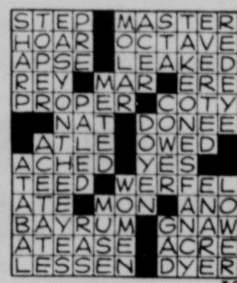

The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, sponsor of the show, organized the first flower show in the country in June, 1829. The society is celebrating its 150th anniversary this year.

Today one out of six workers is a government employee. This is double the ratio that existed in 1948.

Carter Lifts Ban . . .

assessment of the human rights accords.

During the presidential campaign, Carter himself had said the United States was involved in the Allende overthrow. On Oct. 6, in campaign debate, he said the Republican administration "overthrew an elected government and helped establish a military dictatorship."

Carter began the news conference with his announcement about travel to the four Communist nations.

He warned that Americans who want to visit those nations should take precautions because the United States has no diplomatic relations there and the establishment of such ties is "a doubtful prospect at this point."

Carter's announcement at a nationally broadcast news conference confirmed reports that had surfaced earlier at the State Department.

Carter also said he is sending Congress a $1.5-billion, youth employment program as part of his economic stimulation plan. He said it will seek the creation of about one million full-time jobs and one million summer jobs to counter extraordinarily high unemployment among young people, particularly minorities in urban areas.

Carter's economic stimulus program had been criticized recently by big city mayors for not doing more to produce summer jobs for young people.

During the news conference, the President also made these points:

—Said his commitment to withdraw ground troops from Korea has not changed. During the campaign, Carter favored a gradual withdrawal of ground troops. Any withdrawal, he said, would be accomplished over a four-to-five-year period and would have to be done in cooperation with the governments of South Korea and Japan.

—Speaking about the Middle East, the President said there may have to be some "minor adjustment" to borders established after the 1967 Israeli-Arab war. "We will know by mid-May the positions of the interested parties," Carter said.

He said he could not discuss details of new borders in the Middle East because he has not yet met with Arab leaders. The issue of new borders, he said, "is obviously one of the most serious problems."

—Asked about reports of a grand jury investigation of former CIA Director Richard Helms and whether Carter had asked for CIA documents about the matter, the President said: "I have not been asked for any documents and the Helms case has not come to my attention. Whether to proceed with the case will be the exclusive right of the Justice Department."

A grand jury reportedly is probing whether Helms lied to a congressional committee.

—Expressed complete confidence in Paul Warnke to be the U.S. arms negotiator. He acknowledged that he was concerned over the lack of confidence shown in Warnke during the Senate fight on his nomination. Asked whether the Senate debate would have any effect, Carter said that "I don't believe the exact vote in the Senate will have an effect on the future negotiations with the Soviet Union on

Rhodes Seeks New Centers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes proposed Tuesday night the construction of rehabilitation centers in Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati for treatment of injured workers and other handicapped persons.

The plan, presented to the Ohio Rehabilitation Study Commission, calls for private construction of the facilities which then would be leased to state agencies.

"It would not call for either the issuance of bonds or the expenditure of tax dollars," Rhodes said.

The governor said the project would be supported jointly by the rehabilitation commission, Industrial Commission and Bureau of Workers Compensation.

The Toledo center would have a capacity of about 100 residents and the others about 250, Rhodes said.

He announced he has named a special task force, cochaired by William W. Johnston, industrial commission chairman, and Warren Smith, Ohio AFLCIO secretary-treasurer, to expedite his plan.

Heavy Snow In Cascades

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy snow warning continued over the Cascade Mountains today, with gale warnings along the Pacific Northwest coast, and the storm was expected to remain over the Pacific Northwest another night.

Rainshowers, extending along the coast and mountains from northern California through Washington, turned to snow at higher elevations. Showers were scattered across the Idaho Panhandle into western Montana.

Some light and welcome light rain developed over the Dakotas during the night, but skies were clear or almost cloudless over much of the nation.

Temperatures remained mild over the upper Midwest, and record high temperatures for the date were broken in nine states, reaching from Wyoming to Indiana.

SALT (strategic arms limitation talks.)."

—Said he would talk to a man holding a hostage in Ohio if the gunman released his captive. Cory Moore, a 25-year-old black man, has been holding a white policeman hostage since Monday, demanding to talk to Carter about what he said was oppression of blacks.

The President said he was concerned that the Ohio case might be a precedent. "It is a dangerous precedent to make. I weighed that before my own decision ... I hope the police officer is released, but if he is released I would talk to him (Moore.)."

Tax Rebate .

maximum standard deductions would be replaced by a flat $2,400 for single persons and $3,000 for couples.

It would produce a $166 annual tax cut for a family of four with an income of $12,500 who do not itemize. Itemizers would get nothing, but tax experts estimate 5.5 million will find it to their advantage to take the standard deduction.

The legislation also would extend through 1978 the current temporary tax reductions for individuals and businesses, including the present $35 tax credit and a bonus of up to $400 for working poor families.

By 341 to 74, the House accepted the committee's plan for a new job-stimulating tax reduction program for businesses, especially smaller firms, that hire new workers this year and next year.

The government, in effect, would pay up to $1,680 of the first $4,200 in wages for each of 24 new workers whom a firm hires.

The tax legislation is part of Carter's $32 billion, two-year program to boost consumer spending and stimulate the economy. Other features of the program would increase government spending for public works, public service jobs and job-training projects.

Shoemaker To Introduce 'Sunset Law'

Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-Bourneville, chairman of the House Finance Appropriations Committee, will introduce a bill to the 112th General Assembly calling for a two-year expiration date on all taxes and fees enacted in the Ohio Revised Code.

The bill, dubbed the "Sunset Taxation Law", will be proposed to become effective July 1, 1979. It would require the Governor to include in each future biennial budget submission, starting in fiscal year, 1978-1979, his recommendations as to which taxes and at what rates those taxes should be levied for the purpose of funding proposed programs.

The bill would require a total review of all taxes and justification for all State programs every two years. Rep. Shoemaker called the bill "The answer to zero-based budgeting and all sunset laws rolled into one".

The chairman hopes to eliminate the "finger pointing" as to who is responsible for raising existing taxes, or enacting new taxes, if necessary, in the future. "We want to ensure that each budget the Governor proposes is balanced, and that new taxes or increases in existing taxes be identified by the Governor at the start of each new biennium", Mr. Shoemaker concluded.

The bill is scheduled to be introduced this week.

Paint Valley Mental Health Information Coordinator Hired

Mrs. Jean Bildsten was recently hired by the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board "648" as public information coordinator for the five county catchment area consisting of Fayette, Highland, Pickaway, Pike, and Ross Counties.

JEAN BILDSTEN

Mrs. Bildsten is a Registered Nurse who has worked in both the institutional and community mental health settings. She is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Ross County League of Women Voters, Ross County Health Planning Council, Ross County Health Board, Ross County Mental Health Association, and was recently appointed to the Portsmouth Receiving Hospital Advisory Board for a three year term.

Mrs. Bildsten relates that it is with enthusiasm and pleasure that she starts this job on public information about mental health and mental illness. "Hopefully through news articles, radio programs, educational programs, community contacts and speaking engagements, the community will gain a better understanding of mental health, and the area they fear will become one which will enrich their own lives and the lives of those they come into contact with

Any organization that would like to know more about community mental health and where the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board is in providing services, can contact Mrs. Bildsten at the Paint Valley 648 Board, 38½ South Paint Street, Chillicothe, Ohio 45601, or phone (614) 773-2283.

Business Classes Comply With State Standards

By PAULA BLUBAUGH
One of the classes that are offered at Logan Elm is Business Office Education (B.O.E.). This course prepares students during their junior and senior years to perform office and secretarial skills.

MRS. AMBER BIGAM

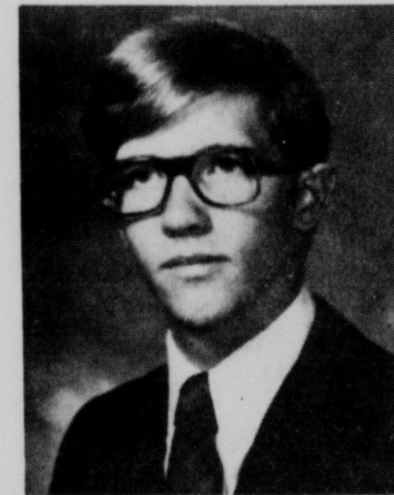

Each class period is three hours in length with a fifteen minute break. The class can be no larger than 25 students. Each desk must be in an L shape with an electric typewriter and calculator. These requirements must be met for financial aid to be received from the state of Ohio.

During the spring of each year the junior and senior students go out on jobs. Approximately forty companies participate in this program.

During their junior and senior year students study shorthand, typing, calculation and business English. By the end of the year students should be able to type 60 words a minute for five minutes and be able to take shorthand at 80 words.

The senior year is a little harder with more shorthand and typing. Added to the list are bookkeeping, office practice, and filing. By the end of their senior year, students should be able to type 70 words a minute and take shorthand at 100 words a minute for three minutes.

Senior Awarded Scholarship

CHRIS BLUBAUGH

By P. J. BLUBAUGH
Chris Blubaugh, a senior at Logan Elm High School, is the first student in the history of Logan Elm to make finalist in the National Merit program.

The scholarship granted to Chris will cover a minimum of $500 for a total of four years. He plans to attend Ohio State University this fall, where he will study Chemical Engineering.

Chris lives at 29989 Poling Road, Kingston, and is employed by the Blue Drummer Steak House. He is a member of the National Honor Society and is active in choir, boys ensemble and stage band.

Low Funds Reported By Junior Treasurer

By LEE ROBINETTE
Jeff McKay, the Junior class treasurer, said the two main money making projects for the Logan Elm Junior class were the ball game concession stands and the Junior class play.

Jeff said that neither project has brought in a lot of money this year. Between the two, the stands brought in less money because L.E. has been having more away basketball games than home ones.

Jeff would like to thank all the Juniors who gave up so much of their free time to work in the stands.

Thank You

Dear Student, Faculty and Friends:
To simply say "Thank you" seems so inadequate, but let me assure you we are deeply grateful to you for your help.

When the news spread about the fire at our home so many of you contacted us wanting to help in any way. We feel so thankful to have such wonderful friends and appreciated your efforts. Everyone did so much and we didn't expect anything more, but on Monday, the 14th of February, you really "shook" us.

The special assembly was a complete surprise because I didn't have the slightest idea what it was for. The ball game, the work and your donations just overwhelmed me. I just couldn't think of the words to express my gratitude and quite frankly I found it very difficult to say anything except "Thank you."

The disaster we experienced we would like to forget but the wonderful people that have come to our rescue we will always remember.

Sincerely,
COACH BILL FROST

Playing Hooky Is Serious Offense

By ALLEN STROUS
Playing hooky and getting away with it isn't getting any easier. Tough measures dealing with people who are absent without excuses now apply at Logan Elm.

All people who miss school must bring a written excuse stating why they were out on returning to school. If they do not bring an excuse within a few days after coming back, or if they were absent for reasons which school officials do not consider proper, their absences are considered unexcused. People with unexcused absences are generally not allowed to make up work from the days they missed.

Furthermore, according to Paul Brown, high school vice-principal who oversees the keeping of attendance records, the names of people with unexcused absences are given to county school attendance authorities. The people receive a letter stating school attendance laws if it is the first time they have had an unexcused absence.

When students have had two unexcused absences, their case becomes the sole concern of the county authorities. The county takes them to juvenile court where they are usually given probation although their penalty may vary due to the presiding judge. The judge considers the home life of the student and whether he has been in any previous trouble. If the student continues to have unexcused absences, he receives stiffer punishments and may be taken from his parents.

Brown stated that he has seen no increase or decrease in unexcused absences in recent years.

JIM WILLISON

Don't Bust Yourself

By MICHELE EBERT
"Don't bust yourself!" was the message to all underclassmen at LE from Jim Willison.

Jim is a senior at LE. His activities include: bowling club, student council, and senior class play. He enjoys working at WNRE as a disc jockey because "There's always something new to learn," Jim explained.

When not at school or work, he passes his time by studying electronics, hunting, telling jokes (especially one liners), and fishing. Sweetcorn is his favorite food, John Denver his most admired singer, and psychology his most enjoyable subject.

In Jim's senior will, he is leaving his voice to "MOON MAN". In his four years at LE, Jim best liked being and laughing with other people.

Bowling Team Has Large Membership

By TERRY HAMPTON
The 1976-77 bowling team at Logan Elm is already underway. This year's president is Kevin Driesbach, with Jim Willison as his vice president. The bowling league has 52 weekly bowlers and 22 substitutes. There are 13 teams with 4 to a team.

Tom Davis holds the yearly first, second, and third places in high games and high series. His high game is 225. Cathy Watson holds the girls high game with a 202. Brenda McDevitt is in second place with a 174, and last but not least is Kim Hayslip with a 172. It seems that everyone always leaves out the last place and never gives them any recognition, so here is the last place team: Jackie Goode with a 74 average, Ronna Parker with a 91, Sheri Thomas with a 97 average and Suzy Speakman with a whopping 90.

Part of the team's dues goes to treasurer Jodie DeLong for a party at the end of the year. The bowling team would like to thank Ellen Leist, the advisor, for getting the ball rolling-no pun intended.

Col. James Kilbourne, who surveyed and named Bucyrus in his youth, later told how he happened to choose the name of the town, honoring his boyhood hero, the Persian general Cyrus and adding "Bu" as a prefix for "beautiful." He was so enamored of the town, one historian says, that he wrote an eight-stanza poem in praise of it.—AP

New Coach Organizes Track Team

By ALLEN STROUS
The boys track team, getting ready for this season's activities, has a new coach. George Bouldin, LE English and history teacher, starts his first year as track coach this spring. Also, Butch Kobel assumes the duties as assistant coach for the first time.

Training will begin March 7. The team which will be composed of about 30 members, will be involved in such events as the 100 yd. dash, the 220 yd. dash, the 440 yd. dash, the 880 yd. dash, high and low hurdles, the mile relay, the 880 yd. relay, pole vaulting, long jumping, high jumping, the discus throw and the shot put. These are all standard track events, Coach Bouldin stated.

The first meet of the season will be an indoor invitational held at French Field House on the Ohio State University campus on March 21.

Vocational School Classes Described

By CHUCK KREISEL
Not all of Logan Elm students attend the High School, some attend the Joint Vocational School. What exactly are classes like at J.V.S?

The aid of the vocational school teacher is to train and prepare the student to be able to go out and make a living at his or her chosen trade.

For example, in cosmetology the students are trained in the basic procedures of beauty culture, such as scalp treatments, shampoos, rinses, manicuring, facial treatments and massage. Other subjects covered in the course are anatomy, physiology, and how to manage your own business.

In Auto Mechanics the program is devoted to developing skills in the maintenance and repair of automobiles. A minimum of three hours is spent daily in the shop working on automobiles or other parts. In addition to that, one and a half hours are spent in classes designed to develop concepts, theories, and skills in shop mathematics, science, automotive service manual use, automotive electricity, sketching, and reading diagrams.

Students practice on automobiles which are brought into the shop by the public.

Rock Group Performs At School

By DEBBIE GOLDSBERRY
On Feb. 15 the Challenger's performed in the McDowell gym for junior high and high school students and faculty. The Challengers, a rock group, are made up of eight performers. The group was started by the leader, John Evans in 1968, he is the only original member of the group.

When the Challengers started performing students began to forget about their school problems and were soon clapping and enjoying themselves. The Challengers played a range of songs from the 50's to the present 70's.

They travel from coast to coast and also perform in foreign countries. When asked what the most rewarding feeling they received from performing John Evans quickly replied, "We love to see people enjoy themselves."

Each of the members enjoy different types of music so they try to combine the different sounds to please their audiences. With all their talents the Challengers even write songs, they are now working on releasing a record, "Country Girls," which will probably be a hit.

The students greatly enjoyed the Challengers and are looking forward to seeing them next year.

The group also played at Teays Valley High School.

Cosmotologists Visited Home Ec Classes

By JULIE WEAVER
On March 2, the home economics classes were visited by four young ladies from Ohio State School of Cosmetology and their instructor, Kathy O'Donnell. Their reason for visiting Logan Elm was to receive credit for their school requirements.

The cosmotologists arrived early in the morning, before school began, and stayed for the remainder of the school day. The home economics girls had their hair styled and their faces made-up properly. The styles they used were easy and simple. The girls of Logan Elm really enjoyed the beauty day.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

President Carter's proposed budget adjustments did nothing to reverse the trend of greater levels of federal spending and correspondingly higher deficits.

The budget recommendations sent by the new President to Congress called for spending levels that exceeded President Ford's projections by $19.4 billion, with a projected deficit increase of $10.7 billion. That represented an increase of better than 20 per cent in the Fiscal Year 1978 budget deficit proposed by President Ford.

The House only added to the problem this week by approving a conference report on the Third Budget Resolution for Fiscal Year 1977, which contained record-breaking deficit spending. It approved a $69.7 billion federal deficit, which is $3.3 billion higher than the previous record set last year. I voted against the resolution.

The Carter economic stimulus program is strongly tied to his proposal for a $50 income tax rebate for certain individuals on their 1976 income taxes. The rebate plan shelves President Ford's recommendation of $10 billion in permanent income tax cuts.

When considered by the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, the Carter rebate proposal drew the opposition of Committee Republicans, who felt that permanent tax cuts would have a much stronger and more positive influence on encouraging needed spending and investing than small rebates, offered to American taxpayers on a one-time-only basis.

However, since President Carter apparently is committed to increased spending for social programs and has promised a balanced budget at the same time, he can be expected to oppose permanent tax cuts which would mean permanent decreases in the Government's revenue base.

The concept of a balanced budget by 1981, as advocated by President Carter, is an extremely worthwhile goal, and one which would be welcomed by taxpayers everywhere. In fact, many of us in Congress have made that same recommendation for years.

It remains to be seen if the President can change the habits of this Democrat-controlled Congress. They have not been so inclined during the more than two decades they have been in control.

Yet, the President Carter's promise of a balanced budget hardly seems a realistic expectation, in view of his support of greater spending for costly social programs, which grow like topsy, to the tune of $5.7 billion.

While the President proposed a $1.5 billion expenditure for education in his budget revisions, he did recommend that impact aid for school districts in areas with large federal institutions be terminated.

President Carter had threatened to cut the defense budget by as much as $7 billion, but his budget recommendations called for considerably less than that. His proposed spending level was $300 million below that called for by President Ford.

It is difficult to know what the Carter White House thinks about the state of this nation's defenses. However, at a time when the Soviet Union is expanding its military capability on virtually every front, our need for a strong defense posture is clear.

Overall, the Carter revisions showed fairly moderate increases in spending — but increases nevertheless, and with the same dire consequences.

The crippling inflation which threatens to undermine all efforts to revitalize our nation's economy, cannot be brought under control as long as the President recommends billions of increased spending, and Congress obliges him — or even worse, gives him even more than he asks.

'Angel' Set To Depart TV Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Farrah Fawcett-Majors, the tawny-haired leader of female television detectives and star of shaving cream commercials, will not return to her top-rated series, "Charlie's Angels," her manager says.

Miss Fawcett-Majors, 30, notified her producers that she is quitting the show after its first year, her manager Jay Bernstein said Monday, confirming reports that had been circulating for weeks.

Her attorney, Charles Silverberg, said his client planned to pursue a career in films. He denied that the actress was threatening to leave the series as a ploy for more money and said she had "never had a signed agreement" with the producers, Spelling-Goldberg Productions.

Neither producer Aaron Spelling nor Miss Fawcett-Majors could be reached for comment.

Officials at ABC declined to comment.

Production for the first year of the show has been completed.

Miss Fawcett-Majors became widely known through more than 100 television commercials, with products including cars, shampoos, milk, makeup, airlines, soft drinks and sun glasses, but her popularity zoomed to new heights in "Charlie's Angels."

Blood Donors Get Part Returned

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The 32 young people lying in recliner chairs study or sleep, oblivious to the rock music blaring from a portable radio — and to the tubes sprouting from their arms and the blood trickling into plastic bags.

For many of them, this is their only job.

"It's not really like selling blood," one student says. "It's more like renting it."

The scene is the Bio-Resources Inc., laboratory and offices near the University of Wisconsin campus and the people in the chairs — most of them students — are among thousands who give blood for money each week.

Actually, office director Jean Pecotte explained, the donors are only giving part of their blood, the plasma.

After extraction, the blood is put into a centrifuge which spins around to separate the plasma from the whole blood, she said.

Then, while the plasma is flash-frozen and packaged for shipment to pharmaceutical firms, the blood is returned to the donor's arm. A saline solution is also injected into the donor's veins to make up the volume of the lost plasma.

"They leave with what they came in with," Mrs. Pecotte said.

She said Bio-Resources purposely picked the campus area to set up its operation three years ago in an effort to get away from the image of professional blood-donor operations catering to derelicts.

"We didn't want that kind of population," she said. "Ours is a clean population, a thinking donor population."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Through sleet and snow and howling winds, the U.S. economy seems to have resolutely faced the storm, its head bowed for a time against the onslaughts, but eventually enduring against the savage elements.

Well, something like that anyway. The business and financial economists hereabouts are coming to the conclusion that the economic damage is largely repairable and that the winter's woes might be the spring's strength.

The Morgan Guaranty "Survey" reports "The first real clues are in, and they tend to confirm that, while hard hit for several weeks when the weather was at its worst, the U.S. recovery has not suffered lasting damage."

Citibank's publication, "Economic Week," comments that "manufacturers are still sanguine despite weather," and that "the stage is set for a rebound in production once weather and energy conditions allow."

Bache Halsey Stuart, the brokerage house, adds its opinion that while the total bill from the severe winter weather in the East might total $5 billion, the effect on the immediate future might be bullish.

"The most likely forecast," it states, "is a sharp temporary spurt in economic output in the second quarter," a consequence of depleted inventories, an easing of the gas shortage, and fiscal stimulus.

Economic commentators already are remarking on the relatively small impact of the weather on jobless statistics, on the quick recovery of car sales, and what they perceive to be a consumer mood more buoyant than expected.

They are noting with wonder that through the worst of it all the level of capital appropriations rose and that somehow the single-family home market seems to have benefited from an injection of buyer confidence.

All of us have seen these remarkable changes of outlook in financial circles before, particularly in the stock market. The anticipated worst fails to materialize, a few good reports emerge, the weather turns benign, and the outlook shines like the sun itself.

And in truth, the economy does seem to have come through the worst of the horrible winter in fairly good shape.

This elation, however, could be something to be enjoyed now. Like the innocent man who has just had his death sentence commuted, there is immediate joy, followed by the numbing realization that the remaining sentence is a formidable obstacle that must be removed.

Perhaps the most immediate of the pressing problems is the lack of water in large areas of the West, mainly in the California fruit and vegetable growing areas.

Preoccupied with its own problems, the heavily populated eastern half of the nation probably has yet to see the full economic impact of the western drought, which is bound to show up in food bills.

Still, a feeling exists that the worst is over.

Nichols Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — R. Hal Nichols of Sharon Center in Medina County, has been named Superintendent of Banks by Gov. James A. Rhodes, filling the unexpired term of Scott O'Donnell, the governor's office said Tuesday.

Nichols, 34, a vice president of the commercial loan department of the Old Phoenix National Bank, Medina, and a former national bank examiner, will assume the new post on April 3.

O'Donnell, who resigned effective March 14, will be replaced for the interim period by Gene A. McMahon of Columbus, deputy superintendent.

Group Withdraws From Nuclear Suit

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — A consumers group has withdrawn from a suit, seeking to block the proposed Marble Hill nuclear generating station on the Ohio River.

The decision by Indiana Citizens Energy Coalition means it will not participate in the environmental hearings opening today at Madison. A spokesman for the Indianapolis-based group said the withdrawal shouldn't suggest it is dropping opposition to the $1.6 billion facility proposed by Public Service Indiana.

Fritz Wiecking, coalition executive director, said, "We have decided the city of Madison, people in Jefferson County and officials in Kentucky are doing a very effective job in bringing out the issues in this dispute."

High Court Sidesteps Death Penalty Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is passing up an opportunity to decide whether the death penalty is valid for someone who took part in a crime leading to murder but didn't actually kill anyone.

That question was a key issue in an appeal by a condemned Texas inmate, Ernest Benjamin Smith Jr. The court refused to consider his case Monday. Only three of nine justices voted to hear his arguments, one vote short.

Smith, 29, a resident of the state's death row at Huntsville, was convicted in the 1973 armed robbery of a Dallas convenience store in which clerk William Moon was shot and killed. Testimony at Smith's trial established that his criminal partner, Howie Robinson, shot Moon as the clerk appeared to be reaching for a hidden gun.

Like many states with death penalty laws, Texas has a so-called "felony murder" statute that allows juries to sentence non-killers to death if a murder arises from their crime.

In choosing not to review Smith's case, the court automatically ended a stay of execution granted last November by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. A new date for Smith's death in the electric chair likely will be scheduled soon.

Smith's appeal raised only one of many capital punishment questions not answered by the court last July 2 when it upheld as constitutional the death penalty laws in Georgia, Texas and Florida.

The court said then that states using certain guidelines could sentence murderers to death. The court will hear arguments on March 28 in cases that could expand those crimes for

Carter Sets Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will make his first overseas trip early in May when he attends an international economic summit in London, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced today.

Although Powell said he had nothing more to announce at this time, he indicated that Carter likely would remain in Europe after the scheduled May 7-8 meeting to confer with leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The London summit, to be held at the 10 Downing St. residence of Prime Minister James Callaghan, will be the third meeting of government heads of Britain, Canada, West Germany, France, Italy, Japan and the United States.

The first economic conference of the major non-Communist industrialized nations took place in Rambouillet, near Paris, in 1975. The national leaders got together again last year outside San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Although Powell said the purpose would be to discuss the economic problems of both the developed and developing countries, he added in response to a question, "My understanding is there is not a limitation to strictly economic issues."

CERAMIC NUT

A FRUSTRATED HUSBAND

(by Lorraine M. Olsen, from her husband's point of view.)

Everyone needs a hobby — a pastime to enjoy —
But my wife has picked a hobby that really can annoy.

Once a week she comes alive, her world's a happy place.
I know that she is "hooked," I can see it in her face.

She's really cute about it in her unassuming way,
Her week begins and ends on each Ceramic Day.

Everywhere I glance I see "treasures" that she's made;
She even hoards her money to see the teacher's paid.

In every nook and corner, drawers and closets too,
Evidence is mounting a psychiatrist is due!

All her bygone hobbies are really in despair
I'd like to have a talk with her — but I don't really dare.

She even goes with "migraines" — God knows that she's not able —
She'd attempt Ceramics with her head upon the table!

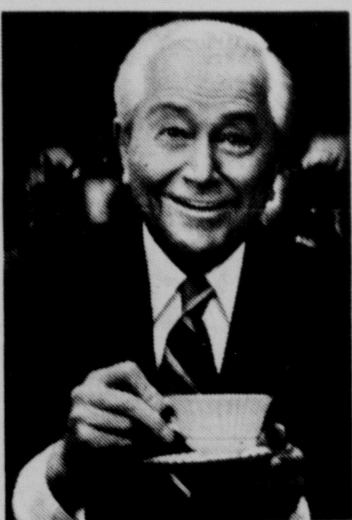

This year she won a ribbon, much to her delight,
Now she's aiming for a blue one to hang beside the white.

For all her worthy efforts, I'm longing for the day
When my wife returns to normal and I replace the clay!

'SPIRIT' MAY SOAR AGAIN — Experimental Aircraft Assn. workers in Milwaukee, Wis., apply covering to a replica of the Spirit of St. Louis which they plan to fly around the country this summer in honor of the 50th anniversary of Charles Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic. The only modification will be a forward cockpit for carrying one passenger.

Wheat Price Program Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says there is no wheat price fixing deal with Canada, at least not for the time being, but he wants to talk more about the idea.

The domestic sugar situation is something else, however, and Bergland said Tuesday he soon will make recommendations to the White House to help hardpressed producers. Two weeks ago Bergland told reporters about a possible arrangement with Canada on the price of wheat sold on the world market. He clearly indicated that while the plan was only in the embryo stage it could lead to the two countries' setting the word prices of wheat.

But Bergland has come under severe criticism from major segments of the private grain trade and other quarters, particularly since he talked over the general idea on Feb. 25 with Otto Lang, Canada's top official in the grain marketing system.

"We set no price, we formed no cartel. That was the figment of some reporter's imagination," Bergland told a National Press Club Luncheon Tuesday. "We did agree, however, that we're in this thing together, and so we agreed that we're going to talk again."

As he did earlier, Bergland noted that the two countries control about 75 per cent of the world's wheat exports and are building up large surpluses. Thus, he said, it will hurt both Canada and the United States if a price war develops just to sell off stockpiles.

Sugar producers are in critical shape because of low prices, Bergland said. He has been considering a plan that will reduce import quotas on cheaply produced foreign sugar as a way to boost domestic prices.

Price supports and direct payments to American growers also are a possibility.

Although Bergland did not spell out any of his sugar plan alternatives, he said that he will recommend an action plan to the White House in a few days. The International Trade Commission, which has been studying the impact of sugar imports on the domestic industry, is scheduled to make its recommendations Thursday.

Raw sugar prices have been well below the break-even level for sugar beet and cane producers, said Bergland. There is no sign the market will improve of its own accord, so government must step in, he added.

Noting that there might be consumer resistance to the government's artificially propping up sugar prices to farmers, Bergland said he did not believe significant retail price increases would be justified.

Two or three years ago when sugar prices soared to around 65 cents a pound the prices of food products containing sugar — ice cream, candy, jelly, bread and other baked goods — also went up. Sugar prices are now at only a fraction of their former peak.

"But the price of products made from sugar somehow have not reflected that drop in price," Bergland said.

If the government adopts a policy of boosting sugar prices to help growers by a few cents a pound there will be "no economic justification" for those food prices to go up again.

School Prayer Problems Return

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The always sensitive issue of school prayer is set for another go-round in the legislature and the lines have already been drawn.

"We have often heard how one or two people, or at least a small minority has been able to remove practically all references to anything of a spiritual nature from our public activities," said Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna. "It seems to me that it is about time we make our collective voice heard."

On the other side of the issue is the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio, guardian of the separation of church and state principle. "We will oppose the present language," ACLU Ohio Director Benson Wolman said of the Locker bill.

Locker, a teacher, has essentially revived a bill that was introduced late in the previous session. It received several hearings but was never voted out of committee.

The new bill, set for a hearing Tuesday in the House Education Committee, directs that boards of education "shall require each teacher" to provide one minute of silence in class each day for "meditation and prayer."

Simple enough. It is based on a Massachusetts law in an obvious effort to skirt the U.S. Supreme Court decision against school prayer by making prayer optional for the pupil.

"As sponsor of the bill, I want to make it clear that is not the intent to force anyone to accept or take part in a specific demonstrational prayer," Locker said. "The sole purpose is to allow time, at the beginning of each school day, for the students to pause and think beyond their immediate surroundings."

The problem with that, in Wolman's view, is the mandatory "shall require" clause and writing the word "prayer" into statutory law.

"Teachers will say, 'all right everybody, it's time for prayer,'" Wolman contends. "It would be an open legitimization for what already goes on."

Wolman said the ACLU could accept a permissive bill that did not make a specific reference to prayer.

"We could live with a period of silence for meditation, but not meditation or prayer," he said.

Things almost got out of hand during proponent hearings on the previous bill in the House Judiciary Committee. One Protestant minister attempted to lead a prayer in the hearing room and others, at times, came close to sermonizing in giving testimony on the bill.

House Education Committee chairman Robert J. Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, said he intended to permit witnesses "free expression" on the measure, within a limited time frame.

Boggs said he asked Locker for assurances that proponents appearing before the panel were "constructive."

The 28-year-old full time legislator, who is personally sympathetic toward the bill, said he planned to call for a committee vote after two or three hearings.

Language Proves Plan In Bias Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Robert M. Duncan took pains to avoid "often unfamiliar and mysterious" legal language in his 86-page finding that school officials are responsible for segregation in the Columbus system.

The opinion Tuesday came almost nine months after the close of testimony in the non-jury trial. Duncan had hoped to issue it before the end of the year, but said he was delayed by a heavy criminal case load.

"I am well aware that many people are unfamiliar with and distressed by the law of the land which requires that school desegregation decisions, involving the education of our precious children, must often be made by a single judge, rather than governmental officials or the voters," he wrote in introductory remarks.

And he said a school desegregation problem "is one we could all do better without, but there is no denying that it is just that—a problem for our community—a problem that won't simply go away if left alone."

But he said the court could not "evade its responsibility."

"If my conclusions are in error, the error will be easy for those who review to discern," the 49-year-old jurist said. "It is my duty as a judge of this court to follow the law—and likewise it is the duty of the citizens of this community to follow this decision so long as it is the law."

Duncan provided an appendix, glossary of terms and school district maps at the back of the pamphlet-like opinion.

He promised at the outset of the decision: "In the writing that follows, the court will strive to avoid language that may not be clear to all who choose to read this decision."

Duncan, appointed by former President Nixon as the first black federal judge in Ohio, was not available for comment after release of the decision. He had said earlier that if it did not speak for itself, then his attempt at legal clarity should be considered a failure.

Busing Certain In Columbus?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — School officials here will be hard pressed to avoid busing of some pupils away from neighborhood schools if they are to meet desegregation guidelines set by a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Robert M. Duncan ordered the Columbus and state boards of education Tuesday to submit racial balance plans for the 1977-78 school year to him within 90 days.

The two school boards have until March 18 to appeal to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, but preparation of a remedy plan must go ahead during the appeals process.

Duncan said the appeals court decision in the Dayton desegregation case which led to limited crosstown busing in that city set a "binding precedent" for his Southern District court.

Hope Fades For Quake Victims

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Hope faded for trapped earthquake victims today as rescuers and trained dogs pressed a round-the-clock search through the rubble of collapsed apartment buildings.

"Last night the dogs found a family still alive over there," said a sergeant at the ruins of the Scala cafe and apartment house, "but when we got to them this morning, they were all dead — father, mother and daughter."

The official toll in Romania is still 1,034 dead, 810 of them in Bucharest, and 6,185 injured. But dead bodies are still being found in the rubble and have not been added to the total.

The Scala was one of 32 apartment buildings that collapsed in the Romania capital during the quake last Friday night. Three men and three dogs from the Swiss Catastrophe Dog Association searched at the ruins.

Aneta Balasun, 20, was found alive late Tuesday after being trapped for nearly 100 hours without food or water. She was taken to a military hospital where doctors said her crushed leg would have to be amputated below the knee. Her family was killed.

Temperatures that had been as high as 50 degrees dropped to near freezing Tuesday night, increasing the risk to trapped survivors of death from exposure. But except for a brief shower Monday, rescue workers have been helped by clear weather.

The workers said it would be days before they had cleared all the debris and recovered all bodies.

Meanwhile, Yugoslav officials said light tremors shook the area around Krusevac, about 95 miles south of Belgrade, Tuesday night and early today, but no damage or injuries were reported.

Foreign aid to the Romanian victims was picking up, with planes arriving or due from 13 nations. East Germany appeared to be taking the lead, sending one or more plane loads of medical supplies and food daily.

His 86-page opinion found state and local officials guilty of depriving black Columbus school children of their constitutional rights to equal protection under law. They were assessed court costs and ordered to remedy the situation brought to the court by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Each black school child in Columbus must have an opportunity for the integrated education and attendant educational advantages contemplated by Brown I and the case which have followed," Duncan wrote.

The landmark 1954 U.S. Supreme Court decision in the Brown versus the Topeka, Kan., Board of Education case wiped out the concept of "separate but equal" schools. Duncan said schools in the state's second largest district were "openly and intentionally segregated" before that decision and since then school officials have "for the most part ignored repeated requests for an integrated educational system."

Racially isolated housing patterns interacted with schools promoting segregation in each, he said.

"I do not suggest that any reasonable action by the school authorities could have fully cured the evils of residential segregation," Duncan said. "I do believe, however, that the Columbus defendants could and should have acted to break the segregative snowball created by their interaction with housing."

He banned any new construction of school facilities in Columbus, unless first approved by him.

Farm Land Mostly Dry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warm weather and some rain in parts of the country last week helped farmers with their spring field work, but most of the nation's midsection and far West still need much more precipitation, according to the Agriculture Department.

"Soil moisture was short in the North Central states, and in the West," the department said Tuesday. Elsewhere soil moisture ranged from adequate to surplus.

Some precipitation as rain or snow "temporarily improved" the moisture situation in some of the North Central area, officials said.

"Southern pastures greened and provided a limited amount of forage to cattle herds," the report said. "In northern areas pastures greened but did not grow enough to be grazed."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Here is a splendid day for handling both routine matters and extraordinary projects. New advances indicated in some ventures which have hitherto been standing still.
TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid present tendencies to scatter energies and to start too many things at one time. Recognize (and make) necessary changes in plans previously considered perfect.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Good aspects. Do not become involved in the confusion prevalent in certain areas. Stride forward with a firm, steady step toward sound objectives.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may receive helpful backing in a business venture from persons you were not counting on. Gains also indicated through correspondence.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Start out on your own power, build up momentum, and you can make your own "breaks." A new turn of events should not deter you from following through on your program.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Old routines may prove more effectual than certain new ones which may be suggested. However, be an astute judge - considering every factor, angle, clue.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Neither renege on promises nor attempt too much. Both extremes are likely now. Accept only what better sense recognizes will suit the day and good purpose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mars, favorable, suggests that you put forth the very best efforts possible, but without overtaxing yourself. Just that one extra try may turn the tide for you.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Because you did not succeed before at what you believed a worthwhile endeavor does not mean you will not now - IF it is still worthwhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Matters may get off to a quick start in the a.m. Look carefully over your system, methods; try harder for surer satisfaction. The effort alone will reward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Mixed planetary influences. Right plans and moves at the right times and places will keep you in the lead for gains, with ease of effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good Neptune influences favor normal routine, as well as the launching of new enterprises. Deliberate, then act. Try a master stroke.

YOU BORN TODAY are a shy, retiring type, ever avoiding the limelight and often deliberately seeking positions which will keep you out of the public eye. Your nature, however, is one of great intensity and you have a deep love of beauty and the arts. You are introspective and, should you choose music as a career, or composition, this trait would evidence itself in the depths of your work. You probably would not be a great success in the commercial world but any creative outlet for your emotions would bring not only fine accomplishment but great happiness. Birthdate of: Dudley Buck, Amer. composer.

Register Watercraft Early

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) today urged Ohio boaters to register their watercraft early this year.

According to Norv Hall, Chief of ODNR's Division of Watercraft, the Division is working to eliminate some of the red tape involved in registering boats.

He explained that a bill written by ODNR will be forwarded to the Ohio General Assembly, which will provide for mailing renewal registrations directly to boaters on a triennial schedule. To further simplify the process for boaters, the proposed legislation would not require the registration of outboard motors.

"Due to the manual processing of registration forms, it takes the average boater several months to record his registration property with the Division of Watercraft," Hall said. "To assure that the new system will be efficiently phased into the present system, it is essential that boaters provide accurate and current addresses and information when registering their boats for 1977. Early registrations will aid in phasing in the new system."

The 1976 registration expired March 1. This year's boat and motor registrations are available from agents throughout the state.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registrations are: outboard hulls, rowboats, canoes, barges or rafts, $1; sailboats and outboard motors, $3; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines less than 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines 100 horsepower or more, $10.

A writing fee of 50 cents, in addition to the regular fee, is charged by the licensing agents for each registration issued.

Temporary 21-day registrations for both boats and outboard motors are available for boaters wanting to use their boats immediately, but experiencing difficulty in obtaining a permanent registration.

Boaters registering boats 14 feet or longer and motors 10 horsepower and more, must present their title to get a registration. Watercraft titles are stamped annually at the time of registration, just as automobile titles are.

Those individuals who acquire boats before Jan. 1, 1964 when the state's watercraft title law became effective, are not required to present a title when registering the craft.

Another incentive to obtain boat and motor registrations early, Hall pointed out, is that the registration fees do not reduce throughout the year as does the auto registration fee.

In Pickaway County, there are two licensed officials who will register your watercraft: Kenneth Kingery, Area Manager at A.W. Marion State Park, R.F.D. 5, Circleville. His phone number is 474-3386.

You may also go to Thomas R. Elsea, Circleville Mobile Homes, 1265 N. Court St. His phone number is 474-5710.

Tigers Drop Tough Tilt To Mifflin

KNEE HIGH — Mifflin's Gregory Milton (41) drives for the buckets and clears the path with his knee in the District contest against Circleville. However, he was called for charging on the play as he hit Circleville's Brent Wright (54). Other Tigers are: Toren Bensonhaver (42) and Tom Taylor (14).

After playing state ranked Mifflin to a standstill for the first half, Circleville ran into a disastrous third quarter that proved to be the turning point in the game as the Tigers dropped a 53-42 decision to the Puncers in District play Tuesday night at Ohio Wesleyan before a large turnout of Circleville fans.

Refusing to recognize the fact that they were going against a state ranked power, the Tigers battled hard and refused to give an inch as they only trailed by two points, 28-26, at half-time.

But, suddenly fate turned on the Tigers in the third quarter and Mifflin was quick to take advantage of it.

Toren Bensonhaver hit on a driving layup at 7:23 into the period to knot the count at 28-28. Issy Ruff took the high single game with a 255 (scratch) while Bev Ferguson rolled 657 (scratch) for high three game series.

However, the rest of the canto was unbelievable as the Tigers put up eight more shots and failed to light the scoreboard again.

While the Red and Black had to settle for the one bucket in the frame,

Mifflin netted four to grab a 36-28 edge at the buzzer.

Circleville still refused to "say die" and pulled within five points of the Puncers at the beginning of the fourth canto.

But, despite the fact that the Tigers kept battling, they just couldn't overtake the powerful Puncers who opened the gap and gained a berth in the District finals against Hamilton Twp., who defeated Lakewood, 72-59, 7 p.m. Wednesday at Ohio Wesleyan with the winner moving into the Athens Regional.

The Tigers sticky man to man defense and Mifflin's press and half court defense took their toll and were a big factor in the contest as the Red and Black were forced into 32 turnovers and the Puncers 27.

Another key to the contest was the lack of trips to the foul line by both teams. Circleville was four of nine for 44 per cent while Mifflin netted 5 of 11 for 45 per cent.

Mifflin did not step to the foul line for its first foul attempt until the 3:46

JUST WRIGHT — That's what Circleville's Brent Wright was as he goes high in the air to grab a rebound. Brent played a fine game in the Tigers 53-42 loss to Mifflin in the District action at Ohio Wesleyan. Other Tigers in the picture are: Frank Merrill (22) and Eric Pontious (34).

mark of the fourth quarter.

Brent Wright turned in a great performance for the Tigers as he went up against Mifflin's 6-foot-7 center Marvin Walker and outplayed him.

Wright held the high scoring Walker to two baskets, both on follows on missed shots, hit four of six from the floor and won the battle of the boards with Walker, nine to five.

Toren Bensonhaver led the Tigers with 14 points, Wright added eight, Frank Merrill and Tom Taylor each netted six, Roy Huffer hit four and Tim Milstead and Mark Albright each had two.

Gregory Milton paced Mifflin with 14 points, Chris Taylor added 12, Charles Smith netted seven, Bruce Howard and Quentin Little each had four.

Circleville was 19 of 37 from the floor for 51 per cent and Mifflin duplicated the feat with 24 of 47 for 51 per cent.

The Tigers took honors on the boards as they hauled down 25 missed shots while Mifflin managed to pull down 20 rebounds.

"I'm as proud as I can be of our men," Circleville coach Jim Bailey commented. "I call them men because that's what they were tonight. They played as hard as a team could play and never backed off a lick."

"The story of the game was pretty simple — We couldn't buy a basket in the second half. Mifflin deserves credit for its defense and discipline on offense. If we would have had a normal shooting night it might have been different — But, that is history."

"It was a great group of young men and everyone contributed to our season. We will miss our seniors, Rusty Holbrook, Frank Merrill, Tim Milstead, Eric Pontious, Tom Taylor and Brent Wright but will have a fine group of juniors coming back with Mark Albright, Mark Beck, Toren Bensonhaver, Mike Brudzinski, Dave Cherrington, Mike Cox, Mike Edgington, Dave Holbrook and Roy Huffer," Bailey stated.

Circleville ended the season with an overall mark of 13-8 and a Sectional championship. The Tigers finished in third place in the South Central Ohio League with a mark of 7-5.

Illinois State Whips Creighton

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Illinois State rediscovered basketball after a full half of its first post-season game. Now, says Coach Gene Smithson, bring on the best.

The towering Redbirds, cold after a 10-day layoff, sputtered through the first half but surged back and whipped Creighton 65-58 in a mistake-riddled first-round National Invitational Tournament game Tuesday night.

Illinois State won a berth in the NIT quarter-finals at New York next week. Smithson, whose team's 22-6 record includes a victory over fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, gives his club a good chance in the tournament.

"We can play with anybody in the country," Smithson said. "We've proved that. We didn't play a real good game tonight. The layoff hurt us. We weren't sharp."

Illinois turned the ball over 13 times in the first half and missed 25 field goal attempts on the way to a frigid 32 per cent shooting average and a deficit of 32-28.

But Creighton was hampered when 6-foot-8 center Rick Apke, its leading scorer, got into early foul trouble. Illinois State mounted a second-half surge when Apke drew his fourth foul shortly after intermission.

Although Creighton pulled within one point on the strength of a 10-point streak by John Johnson, the surge ended when Apke fouled out at 5:57 with the score 53-52. The game ended with a rash of fouls as Creighton tried to break an Illinois State slowdown.

Illinois State was led by 7-foot center Jeff Wilkins, who dominated the boards and finished with 21 points. Johnson had with a game-high 22 points, and Apke, who brought a 20.2-point average into the game, had only seven.

Creighton, which edged into the national rankings in the second half of the season, finished with four straight losses and a 21-7 record.

NIT action continues tonight with Indiana State at Houston, Georgetown at Virginia Tech, Oregon at Oral Roberts and Villanova at Old Dominion.

Meanwhile, in a light night on the college basketball schedule Tuesday, 18th-ranked University of North Carolina-Charlotte defeated Jacksonville 74-69 in the Sun Belt tournament.

UNC-Charlotte has to meet New Orleans, which beat Georgia State 86-66, for the tournament title before moving on to the NCAA Midwest Regional at Bloomington, Ind.

In first-round action at the NAITA tournament, Alcorn State beat Mount Marty 90-54, Clarion State nipped Augsburg, Minn. 88-84 in overtime, East Texas State topped Briar Cliff 70-59, Emporia State clipped Fairmont State 76-71, Henderson State beat Tri-State 64-54, Illinois Wesleyan downed St. Augustine's 87-67, and Texas Southern ripped Central State, Ohio 89-65.

Bob Gaillard Named Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Gaillard, who led the San Francisco Dons to their best basketball season since the Bill Russell years of the mid-1950s, was named The Associated Press College Coach of the Year today.

Gaillard, a low-key coach who encourages informality, won the award as easily as his team won games this season, more than doubling the score of his nearest competitor.

Balloting from sports writers and broadcasters around the country supplied Gaillard with 120 votes while runnerup Eddie Owens of Arkansas collected 52.

Carl Tacy of Wake Forest was third in the voting with a score of 30, while UCLA's Gene Bartow had 20 and Kentucky's Joe Hall 15 to round out the top five.

Gaillard's team is considered unusual because of the modish young leader's approach to coaching. There is no curfew on any occasion and Gaillard himself brags about the Dons being a "very virile, girl-loving team." He voices no concern if a player keeps late hours.

Explaining his unique philosophy, Gaillard says: "My obligation is to make the guys reach their potential, be competitive and have fun."

Guard Chubby Cox says the lack of curfew "allows us to be our own men. When you're given the opportunity to be your own man, you have more go, more self-pride. No one takes advantage of it."

Gaillard likes to contrast himself with coaches on the other end of the spectrum, the kind he calls "Marine sergeants."

"I'm as, or more, competitive than any of those guys. I just don't have to prove it. A lot of coaches live their competitiveness through their team. I don't."

Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles has won 20 or more games in six of the past seven American League seasons.

The Milwaukee Brewers open their home baseball season against the Baltimore Orioles on April 12.

Linden-McKinley are The Associated Press' choices for the top awards in Ohio Central District high school basketball.

BRENT WRIGHT

A district board of sports writers and broadcasters tapped Williams, an agile center who averaged 25 points, for the Class AAA Player of the Year. They voted Davis the Class AAA area Coach of the Year after he led the Panthers to 18 consecutive victories and the Columbus City League championship. Marquis Miller, a 6-6 senior forward who averaged 19 points and led Columbus St. Charles to the Central Catholic League title, earned area Class AA Player of the Year laurels. John Smith, leading Columbus Mifflin to a 15-3 record and City League contention, collected the Class AA Coach of the Year honors. Morral Ridgedale, the state poll champion, swept the district Class A titles, Dan Wendell being named the No. 1 coach after a 16-1 regular season and 6-1 junior Brad Weston the top player with a 21.4 point average. Williams and Todd Penn of Linden, a 5-9 guard who was first all-state last season, lead a five-man Class AAA district all-star unit. Penn averaged 20.5 points. His pinpoint passing was just as instrumental for the Panthers. Joining them on the first team were 6-4 senior Chris Ash of Newark, 17.2 points per game; 6-5 senior Dave Stough of Grove City, 23.0, and 6-3 senior Sterling Williams of Linden, 15. On the second team were 6-2

Columbus Whetstone senior Joe Miller, 26 points a contest; 6-5 Columbus Franklin Heights junior Mike Saxton, 18.2; 5-8 Newark senior Chris Franga, 17.6; 6-1 Marion-Franklin senior Delbert Miller, 20.5, and 6-2 senior Paul Chadwell of Galloway Westland, 20.6. Miller is part of a AA district first team that includes 6-4 Bexley senior Larry Wilson, 18.8; 6-2 Mount Gilead senior Kent Baker, 26.2; 6-2 Mifflin senior Dewey Milton, 16.0, and 5-10 Johnstown senior Jeff Kessler, 21.6. Second team AA selections were 6-1 Johnstown senior Rich Reed, 24.2; 6-3 Hebron Lakewood junior Jay Davison, 20.6; 6-4 Logan Elm senior Chuck Cave, 21.0; 6-6 Pickerington senior Rob Roesch, 19.0; 6-3 Hamilton Township senior Tom Motika, 20.0, and 6-4 Circleville senior Brent Wright, 14.2. On the district A No. 1 unit with Weston were 6-4 Danville senior Mike Workman, 18.0; 5-11 Johnstown Northridge senior Dave Wells, 20.5; 6-4 Cardington senior Mike Rengert, 20.1, and 6-2 Sparta Highland senior Jeff Jahn, 24.0. Second team picks were Kevin Flewellen, 6-1 Licking Heights senior with a 20.5 average; 6-2 Canal Winchester senior Neal Seymour, 19.0; 5-9 Berne Union senior Keith Riggs, 16.1; 5-11 Liberty Union sophomore Rudy Reed, 18.0, and 5-9 New Albany sophomore Ron Stewart, 24.0.

Hawks Edge Philadelphia

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sport Writer John Drew knows a good thing when he sees one. And he is not bashful when it comes to telling the world about it. "I think I made a great shot," said the brash young forward of the Atlanta Hawks, whose 30-foot jumper at the buzzer beat the Philadelphia 76ers 99-98 Tuesday night. "All my shots are great shots — if they go in!" Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue thought his team did all it could to stop Drew, who led the Hawks with 30 points. "Our defense was absolutely perfect on that play," he said. "It was a forced shot, deep on the floor. We had him doubleteamed and he had two hands in his face. It was just a matter of taking a shot and praying." Drew credited the capacity crowd of 15,821 at the Omni — only the second sellout in the Hawks' five years there — with an assist on his winning basket. Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night, the Detroit Pistons nipped the Milwaukee Bucks 109-107, the Buffalo Braves beat the Portland Trail Blazers 102-95, the Denver Nuggets defeated the New York Knicks 114-108, the San Antonio Spurs topped the Phoenix Suns 122-115, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the New Orleans Jazz 96-91, and the Golden State Warriors downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 112-102.

All-America Cage Team Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Dean Smith calls him the best guard in America, college or pro. What does Phil Ford think about that? He doesn't think about that. "Individual honors are meaningless unless the team wins," says the North Carolina star. "There are no prima donnas on this team and that's the way I like it." Perhaps Ford will not recognize his individual talents, but the nation's sports writers and broadcasters did Tuesday when they voted him to the 1977 Associated Press All-America basketball team. Ford was joined on The AP's first team by forwards Marques Johnson of UCLA and Bernard King of Tennessee, guard Rickey Green of Michigan and center Kent Benson of Indiana. Ford, who helped the U.S. Olympic team win a gold medal at Montreal last summer, did equally well for the Tar heels this winter. Orchestrating Smith's famed "Four Corner" offense with his gifted ball-handling ability, the 6-foot-2 junior led North Carolina to the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. Among his statistics are a 19-point scoring average, shooting marks of 55 per cent from the field and 84 per cent from the free throw line, and nearly seven assists a game. Johnson scored the highest point total among the top five in the nationwide voting. Johnson had 824 points on the basis of five for the first team and three for second. Green was the second leading point-getter with 521. Ford collected 480, Benson 423 and King 389.

Benson was the only repeater from last year's first team. Ford was a second-team All-America in 1976 and King was on the AP's third team. King barely edged teammate Ernie Grunfeld for first-team honors. On the second team along with Grunfeld, a forward who had 381 points, were San Francisco center Bill Cartwright, Houston guard Otis Birdsong, Minnesota center Mike Thompson and Marquette guard Butch Lee. The third team included Rod Griffin of Wake Forest, Wayne "Tree" Rollins of Clemson, Phil Hubbard of Michigan, Bo Ellis of Marquette and Freeman Williams of Portland State.

Cleveland Signs Carty And Fosse TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran infielder-designated hitter Bill Melton remained the only member of the Cleveland Indians not under contract for the 1977 season, after General Manager Phil Seghi signed veterans Rico Carty and Ray Fosse Tuesday. Carty, whose contract had been renewed Monday with an automatic 20 per cent pay cut, agreed to a two-year pact with the Indians believed to be worth about $220,000. Fosse's one-year agreement calls for a salary believed to be in the neighborhood of $75,000, which represents a raise of about $20,000 over his pay in 1976.

Jim Kerns Recalls Happiest Words

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — All it took for Jim Kern, the Cleveland Indians' tall righthanded relief ace, to make his first full major league season last year a memorable one was "the right word from (Manager) Frank Robinson." The "right word" came near the end of spring training a year ago when the hard-throwing pitcher still didn't know where he stood. "We had a good pitching staff already that was going to be hard to crack," Kern mused here the other day. "I guess I threw real well, but it didn't look like there was going to be any room for Jim Kern. It was close to the final cutdown and I still didn't know what plane to take. "So I asked Robby where I should send my wife, to Toledo (Cleveland's top minor league team in the Class AAA International League) or where? He said send her to Cleveland. That made my year."

Willis Reed Slated As Knicks Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — A white banner bearing a bright orange 19 hangs from the ceiling at Madison Square Garden, flanked by banners honoring the New York Knicks' 1970 and 1973 championship teams. No. 19, the only uniform the Knicks ever have retired, belonged to Willis Reed, the captain and bulwark of those two title teams and the man teammate Bill Bradley described as "the player boss." Reed is expected to become "the boss" today. The New York Knicks scheduled a news conference, and the news was expected to be that Reed would take over from Coach Red Holzman next season.

Boston Bruins Beat Atlanta Flames, 3-2

By FRANK BROWN AP Sports Writer "This week," said Atlanta Flames Coach Fred Creighton, "could be our season." Creighton spoke not only for his club but for a number of others in the National Hockey League — some teams struggling to retain playoff spots they currently hold, others striving to unseat the teams ahead of them. The Flames, third in the NHL's Patrick Division, lost again Tuesday night — dropping a 3-2 decision to the Boston Bruins and going winless for the 17th time in the last 22 games. They remained four points ahead of the New York Rangers, who haven't done much better over the same period. Meanwhile, the surging Minnesota North Stars beat the New York Islanders 3-1 for their third straight triumph, strengthening their hold on the third and final playoff spot in the Smythe Division and coming within range of the Chicago Black Hawks. Three points separate those teams and the Hawks have lost their last five games. "I think the guys smell pay dirt," said Minnesota right wing Glen Sharpley after scoring the insurance goal that sank the Islanders. The New Yorkers were concerned after the game. The loss, the team's second in three games, dimmed their chances of catching the first-place Philadelphia Flyers and came against the team they'd play if the best-of-three preliminary round started tonight. In the other games, the second-place Pittsburgh Penguins held on to their two-point margin over Los Angeles in the Norris Division by beating St. Louis 2-1 while the Kings were bombing the Black Hawks 7-1. In the World Hockey Association, the Quebec Nordiques blasted the Phoenix Roadrunners 9-2, the Winnipeg Jets blanked the San Diego Mariners 5-0 and the Houston Aeros topped the Edmonton Oilers 5-3.

Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman, members of the New York Mets pitching staff, ranked third and fourth in the earned run averages in the National League in 1976. Their records were 2.59 and 2.70, respectively.

Pete Rose Stands Firm On Demands

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Toughminded Pete Rose, a sure bet for baseball's Hall of Fame, is digging in for the most difficult stand-off in a career that spans 17 years and 2,184 games. His pride wounded by a bitter salary dispute, the Cincinnati star is prepared to sever his long-standing love affair with his hometown team. Rose, baseball's eternal child at 36, may end up as the most celebrated entry in 1977's free agent market next October. He has convinced his closest friends he is ready to make the jump. The three-time National League batting champion has taken the firmest stance of five unsigned members of the world champions. Simply put, Rose feels he is worth more money than the Reds are offering. "Everything I've ever done in Cincinnati uniform has been to help Cincinnati win," said Rose, one of the game's most popular players and the only man ever named to four positions in All-Star competition. The Reds announced Tuesday that the contract dispute remains deadlocked. General Manager Dick Wagner said the Reds plan to automatically renew the contracts of any players not signed by Thursday. That means the unsigned members of the team could have their salaries cut 20 per cent and become free agents at the end of the season, if terms are not reached. Wagner said Rose has been offered contracts up to three years in length. The Reds are reportedly offering $250,000 a year, but Rose is said to be seeking a package close to the $1.2 million three-year pact paid to teammate Joe Morgan. Rose doesn't buy the argument that singles hitters aren't worth large salaries. "If you think that you are tops in your profession, and I feel that I am that close, you ought to be paid a top salary," Rose said. "If $80,000 was the top salary when Babe Ruth was playing and I was playing then, then I think I should be paid near that," said the Reds tentime all-star, who has batted .300 in 11 of his last 12 years.

In other business, council scheduled the annual Memorial Day service 11 a.m. May 30 at the Darbyville Cemetery. Speakers will be the Rev. Jack Lewis and the Rev. Leonard Gabbart.

The next meeting of council will be April 4 at 7:30 p.m.

We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on!

We've lowered our rate on any loan that'll help save energy.

The energy crisis is not going to go away.

That's why every BancOhio bank has set aside funds at special rates to help Ohio save energy.

We've reduced our interest rates on any home improvement loan that can help save energy. Don't wait for next winter to do something about it. Add insulation to walls and attic. Install a new furnace or have your old one reconditioned. Have storm windows and doors installed. Warm up your floors with new carpeting. Keep the cold out with new siding.

Even repair damage already caused by this year's severe winter.

We want to make it as easy as possible for you to help save energy. Apply for your Energy-Saver Loan now. And funds will be available when you are ready to make that needed energy-saving home improvement. You'll not only add comfort and value to your home, but with our Energy-Saver Loan, you'll save money.

Come in and talk with us. We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on.

Four People Injured In Accident

Four people suffered injuries in a two-car accident on N. Court St. Tuesday night.

Treated at the scene of the 10:05 p.m. accident by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team and at Berger Hospital by emergency room personnel were Alice F. Richards, 20, 11584 1/2 Hedges St., Ashville, who suffered a sprained right ankle, and Edward L. Richards, 23, who suffered a muscle strain to his back.

Referred to doctors for treatment were Lee Roy Conrad, 21, 162 Villa Drive, who suffered a laceration to his finger, and Bradford Hill, 22, 66 Bolens Ave., who suffered bruises to his knee.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff J. Phillip Brown said Conrad was driving north on N. Court St. and Mrs. Richards was driving south.

She apparently did not see the Conrad vehicle and attempted to make a left turn into the parking lot of the Lawson Store.

Conrad's car skidded 25 feet before crashing into the side of the Richards vehicle.

Mrs. Richards was charged with failing to yield the right of way.

Conrad's car, a 1977 Chevrolet Corvette with less than 500 miles, suffered severe damage.

Stoutsville Plans Water Questionnaire

Stoutsville Village Council met in regular session Monday with Mayor Ellsworth Wright presiding.

Dick Riffle was present to discuss the water survey which is being conducted by a Citizens Committee. A letter and questionnaire has been drafted and will be given to all residents of the village and some outlying areas.

William Martin noted that new crystals for police cruiser communication were necessary and also a new siren was needed. Purchase of the items was authorized.

Charles Harrison reported on a meeting he had attended with regards to assistance being requested by Fairfield County Commissioners for home insulation purposes.

The Marshal's report for February stated that 34 hours had been spent with a total mileage of 142 miles. They investigated 2 breaking and enterings, 1 burglary, 4 domestic problems, and issued 1 warning ticket.

In attendance in addition to the Mayor were council members Charles Harrison, William Martin, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer, clerk Mary E. Meyer, Street Commissioner Bob Harrison, Deputy Marshall Rick Smith and Regional Planning representative Dick Riffle.

Man Frees Hostage After Carter OKs Telephone Talk

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — A black gunman who had tried to drive whites off this planet under threat of a curse released his white policeman hostage of 45 hours unharmed today.

The release came shortly after President Carter repeated during a nationally televised news conference his earlier promise to speak with the ex-Marine after the hostage, Capt. Leo Keglovic, was freed.

Cory Moore, 25, emptied the bullets from his handguns and the guns and ammunition to Keglovic, 49, who then led Moore into custody outside the City Hall office that had been their home since Monday afternoon.

"Everybody's out, everybody's safe, nobody's hurt," Police Chief Craig Merchant said moments later.

The surrender came despite President Carter's refusal to grant Moore's demands that he talk with the ex-Marine before Keglovic was freed and that he apologize publicly for historic white oppression of blacks.

Moore, who got a television set by which to monitor news reports Monday night at the same time he released his other hostage, Shelley Ann Kiggans, 17, of Warrensville Heights, watched Carter's nationally televised White House news conference before giving up, authorities said.

In that news conference, Carter promised to talk with Moore after Keglovic was freed.

Carter said he weighed the danger of setting a precedent but didn't elaborate.

Even before Keglovic became visible, his family members hugged and cheered each other and were led in to see him.

Moore "surrendered right after the news conference," Merchant said. He said the delay in his appearance outside City Hall was because police needed "a few minutes to get him unwound."

He said Moore was to talk with the White House, but there was no immediate word as to when.

Carter Lifts Ban On Red Journeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter today termed inappropriate the apology ventured by a U.S. diplomat for alleged American involvement in the overthrow of a left-wing Chilean government, and at the same time announced the end of the ban on

Gunmen Hold Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gunmen are believed holding several persons hostage on the fifth floor of the B'Nai B'Rith International Headquarters building here, police reported today.

A radio reporter at the scene said he had seen one man with a shotgun inside a window of the building before persons inside covered the windows with heavy paper or cardboard.

Police set up barricades at the scene about seven blocks north of the White House.

D.C. police officer A.W. Bell said an unknown number of men armed with rifles attempted a holdup at the building.

Shots were exchanged and at least three persons were injured.

The hold-up men found themselves trapped and took over the 7th floor of the building, where Bell said, they were holding about 20 hostages.

Using rollers, the men painted windows along the width of the rear of the 7th floor of the building, apparently to block from view of police sharpshooters outside.

A police helicopter circled the area, which was cordoned off from normally heavy lunchhour traffic.

Mrs. Carter: Life In White House Not All Steaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter is weighing some important policy decision, he doesn't have to ask his wife for her advice.

"I tell him what I think," says First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

In an exclusive interview Tuesday, the First Lady also said she disapproves of couples living together without being married because "I'm kind of old fashioned about things like that."

She said she wouldn't hesitate to send one of her children to a psychiatrist if necessary, and that she hopes her daughter, Amy, will receive sex education both at home and at school.

And she doesn't serve liquor at the White House, she said, because "I just don't want to. Not for religious reasons. I just don't want to Besides, I'm saving the taxpayers' money."

In her first interview since becoming First Lady, Mrs. Carter offered a glimpse into her family's new life, her goals and dreams.

Sitting behind a cluttered desk in her small quarters on the opposite side of the White House from her husband's

"He wanted the President to talk to him before he would release the hostage, and we wanted it the other way around," said Sgt. Larry Shanker.

Moore then insisted that Carter make an apology on local television this morning for "all the misdeeds done to blacks from the year 1619 to 1977."

Moore has been insisting on talking with Carter almost since he took two hostages Monday afternoon. The second captive, Shelley Kiggans, 17, was released unharmed after Moore was given a television set so he could monitor news reports of the siege.

She said Moore walked into city hall, fired three shots and took her and Keglovic into a room. At times Moore tied them up, but he didn't harm them, she said.

Moore, who is armed with his own handgun and Keglovic's gun, has allowed food and insulin to be sent in for the officer, but has refused himself to eat, fearing the food might be poisoned. He has refused to talk to immediate relatives but had spoken by phone to friends, black reporters and black leaders.

Although Moore was described as calm, officials and those who talked with him said he keeps returning to the subject of white oppression of blacks.

Moore has vowed he would place a "curse from hell" against whites if they didn't leave the planet with their "bombs, guns, bullets and ignorance" within seven days.

Moore was released from the Marines in 1973 as a private first class. His former wife, Leah, said her husband became bitter against whites after he left the Marines.

Ernest Wagley, a parttime instructor at Cuyahoga Community College where Moore was a student, said, "The type of thing that he is espousing at Warrensville, he would espouse in class quite frequently. He was extremely strong in his belief in general about blacks and where blacks should be today."

American travel to four Communist nations.

In repudiating the statement on Chile by United Nations envoy Brady Tyson, Carter acknowledged that the United States "has been at fault in some instances" for infringing on human rights accords. But he did not put the 1973 overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende in that category.

He said, instead, that the American travel ban was such an instance, and that it will be lifted effective March 18. That will permit U.S. citizens to travel to Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea and Cambodia.

Tyson said in Geneva that he exceeded his instructions but did not act contrary to them in apologizing for what he said was American involvement in the ouster of Allende.

"I think the remarks made by the delegate concerning our past involvement in Chilean internal affairs was inappropriate," he told his third White House news conference. Carter said a Senate committee has not found any proof that the United States was involved in Allende's overthrow but only in financial aid to some political groups in Chile.

"The statement made by our delegate was made on his own and does not represent the view of our government," Carter said.

He linked that episode with the broader question of human rights under the Helsinki agreement, saying that the administration remains concerned about that issue. Carter noted that administration officials will go to Belgrade later this year to join in grand Oval Office, Mrs. Carter cupped her chin in her hands and talked for some 40 minutes about both foreign policy and personal concerns.

Mrs. Carter, who has an interest in mental health programs, said no one in her immediate family has had psychiatric care, but if one of her children needed it, "I'd seek it for them. Of course, I would."

As for 9-year-old Amy's sex education: "I hope we can talk to her at home. I hope she'll get it at school. I think it's very important, but I haven't thought about at what age it should begin."

She said that even if criminal penalties for smoking marijuana were removed, she wouldn't want her family or friends to use it "because not enough research has been done to see how harmful it is."

And if someone were to light up in the White House?

"I would disapprove," she said.

The President said last week that the taxpayers are not paying for the Carters to live in the White House and Mrs. Carter expanded on that. "Every bit of food that is served to the family

Army Germ Tests Bared

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A censored report on 20 years of secret, domestic germ-warfare tests has prompted plans for a lawsuit by the family of a man who died in 1950 after Navy ships launched bacteria in San Francisco Bay.

But most officials expressed only surprise at the report, made public Tuesday, which revealed Army tests conducted in highway and subway tunnels, stockyards, on military bases and at sea off numerous populated areas.

"The family is determined to proceed with legal action. We wanted to have as much evidence available as possible," said Edward Nevin III, an attorney whose grandfather, Edward Nevin, died of a heart infection allegedly caused by Seriatta Marcescens bacteria.

It is this bacteria that was released from ships off San Francisco in September 1950, Army officials testified on Tuesday before the Senate subcommittee on health and scientific resources.

Their report said the Seriatta Marcescens bacteria spread up to 50 miles inland, but it had been believed that the bacteria would not endanger humans.

Two years later, they said, researchers became alarmed by an outbreak of infectious disease related to Seriatta Marcescens among San Francisco Bay area residents who had been hospitalized at about the time of the September 1950 test.

Despite the Army's alarm, however, California apparently noticed no strange illnesses. Bob Nance of the state Department of Health, said record checks for San Francisco and other cities from the time of the tests "found no unusual health situation."

Nevin said he felt the results of his private investigation of Army domestic germ tests from 1949 to 1969, combined with material contained in the Army report, were sufficient to file a claim.

He said the claim, which must be presented before the Army can be sued, would be filed within 30 days. The Army, which has denied any link between the tests and Nevin's death, would have six months in which to consider its merits, he said.

The Army report also said a farm owned by the University of Wisconsin was one of four sites where 48 tests involving "pathogenic agents," which are disease causing, were performed.

Glenn Pound, dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, said he believed the report referred to work on Newcastle disease, a virus afflicting chickens and other poultry.

Dr. B.C. Easterday of the university's department of veterinary science said Newcastle disease is a virus that affects poultry and which resembles bronchitis in its early stages, but later leads to incoordination, tremors and twitching of the head.

4-H BABY — Young Lori Leigh Wollam, newborn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wollam, 538 Nicholas Square, is the 1977 4-H baby, the first child to be born during 4-H Week. She is pictured with her mother, Pat, and a special 4-H quilt made by the Darby Doodlers 4-H Club and donated by the Colony House. Lori Leigh was born 11:51 a.m. Sunday. Her dad, incidentally, is a new 4-H advisor this year, organizing a standardbred harness horse club.

MARCH is Youth Art Month in Circleville, according to a proclamation issued by Mayor Frank Barnhill.

Citizens are urged to become interested in, support, and encourage the art programs presented in schools and youth organizations.

The Circleville Monday Club, a member of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, supports the proclamation.

Assembly Readies Major Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After several weeks of dabbling in mostly minor legislation, majority Democrats apparently are ready to begin acting on significant measures in the legislature.

The House Rules Committee scheduled floor votes today on bills permitting local option elections on the sale of high powered beer (six per cent) and wine on Sunday.

Representatives also were to vote on a once-vetoed (by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes) bill protecting homeowners from double liability in home construction and repair contracts.

The latter, a repealer of the mechanics' lien law, for one and two-family residential units, has been in at least the last two state platforms of the Democratic party.

Rhodes sidetracked it last year after being presented with a highly technical measure he said failed to accomplish the intended purpose. Even some Democrats agreed as his veto stood.

The House, moving somewhat faster than the Senate, plans to vote Thursday on another measure vetoed by the governor last session. It requires automatic smoke detector systems in high rise apartment buildings 75 feet in height or taller.

To no avail, some members of the Senate Rules Committee attempted Tuesday to schedule a floor vote on a constitutional amendment repealing Ohio's antiquated $750,000 debt limit.

However, Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, objected, and Assistant Majority Leader M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, was unable to muster the needed votes in the absence of Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

Ocasek and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, both have defended this year's slower than usual pace of the legislature—in session nine weeks now. The essence of their comments have been that there is no need to rush important bills.

In addition, the winter energy crisis

and deliberations on a skin tight budget for the next two years have been cited by them as extenuating circumstances.

Committee actions again Tuesday overshadowed floor deliberations, in both chambers.

The Senate approved 31-1 a measure that deletes from the law an exemption from jury duty for members of the Ohio National Guard. It now goes to the House.

By overwhelming margins, the House sent the upper chamber a proposal to facilitate withdrawals of cash from joint bank accounts after the death of one partner. Democrats prevailed along party lines on another seeking to resolve a political feud in Cincinnati over operation of its city-owned railroad. Trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railway now are all Republicans. The bill would put the power to name trustees in the hands of Democratic Mayor James Luken.

Tax Rebate Measure Clears U.S. House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fights over plans for a $50-per-person rebate and a new business tax break are likely to continue during Senate action on the House-approved version of President Carter's program to stimulate the economy.

The tax reduction bill, worth $43.1 billion during the next 31 months, was passed Tuesday by the House, 282 to 131, after battles over features giving 200 million Americans up to $50 each this spring and summer and creating a new job-stimulating tax cut mainly for smaller businesses.

A key vote on the rebates came when the House, by 219 to 194, rejected a Republican-backed attempt to substitute and across-the-board tax cut in place of the rebates.

The Senate Finance Committee continues hearings today on the tax cut measure. Senate Republicans also oppose the rebates and favor a permanent tax cut plan instead.

By 312 to 103, the House accepted its Ways and Means Committee's changes, including a phaseout of the $50 rebates for persons making between $25,000 and $30,000. Families or individuals with income of $30,000 or more would get no rebates.

Carter's recommended $50 special payment to each beneficiary of Social Security, railroad retirement, or Supplemental Security Income for the aged, blind and disabled was expanded to include those getting welfare under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, coal miners suffering black-lung disease, and persons getting veterans pensions.

While the tax rebates would go out in May and June, most of the special payments would be mailed in late summer.

The bill would permanently reduce taxes for 45.5 million couples or individuals, mostly with incomes under $15,000. This tax cut, to be reflected in paychecks starting in May, would come by raising the standard deduction for taxpayers who do not itemize deductions.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today, extending the decline that set in late in Tuesday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell more than 3 points in early trading, and losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the rally in stock prices last week and Monday had failed to impress many investors because it came on sluggish volume.

Tuesday's weak showing seemed to convince traders that the upswing had run its course.

Looming in the immediate future was the scheduled report Thursday on the government's wholesale price index for February, which was expected to show the adverse effects of eastern cold and western drought.

Today's early prices included Digital Equipment, down 1/4 at 41 1/2; Xerox, off 1/4 at 50 3/4, and Texaco, up 1/4 at 27 1/2.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 3.08 to 952.04.

Advancing and declining issues on the NYSE were virtually even.

Big Board volume totaled 19.52 million shares, up from 17.41 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .19 to 54.83.

Lady Clementine's Plight

Britain has been the source of much sad news in recent years, but one of the most depressing items was the revelation that 91-year-old Lady Spencer-Churchill has had to resort to selling some of her furniture and other family possessions to pay her rent and nursing expenses.

Britain, ironically, does not treat its retired first families as royally as does the United States. There are no princely pensions, paid staffs and other accoutrements. Nor did Britain's wartime prime minister amass the kind of personal fortune many American officials do as a result of public office. When Winston Churchill died in 1964, his estate after taxes was valued at slightly more than $400,000, which was divided principally between his widow, son and two daughters. Ill health combined with currency devaluations and Britain's general economic prostration have brought Lady Clementine to her present predicament. It is a sad chapter in the life of a family many on both sides of the Atlantic remember with a special fondness.

$100 Window

By JIM BISHOP

He lived behind bars for a number of years, but Eddie was a born smiler. He was dark and broad-shouldered and he worked the hundred dollar window at race tracks. Sooner or later, he met all the big bettors.

He grinned from behind his cage, punching out tickets and counting them carefully and snapping a rubber band over them. I have seen Eddie punch one out for himself, but these were rare occasions. When Ed bet a hundred, it was because he thought that a certain horse, on a certain day in a cheap race, was a stickout.

He worked the tracks in the East six days a week. He was usually down under the stands and he could hear the roar of the crowd at the finish, but he seldom saw a race.

Boss Frank Hague was a big better but he seldom showed up for Eddie. Hague sent his deputy, Johnny Malone, to place his bets. The Jersey mayor could lose a bundle without a squawk.

Hague's successor, John V. Kenny ("the little guy"), loved to bet big. He walked up to Eddie's window cascading a bunch of quarters between his hands. Then he would pick a number and slide the expensive lettuce into the window.

Saul Silberman owned the race track — Tropical Park — and tried to go broke betting. For awhile, he had his own betting machine in his office. Silberman was about as tall as a well-kept lawn. The last time I saw him he said, "Don't write me up as a diseased gambler. I've got my betting down to $7,000 a day."

The biggest bet Eddie handled was from a short, middle-aged stranger. He had two fists full of big bills when he arrived at the window. The track was Belmont. The year, 1943.

"Let me have $60,000 to win the Count Fleet," he whispered. Eddie took the money and gave it to a cashier to count. It consisted of $20,000 in $500 bills; $40,000 in hundreds.

Eddie numbed a finger punching out 600 tickets. Count Fleet won easily. He paid $2.10 for each $2 bet. The stranger — not seen before or since — won $3,000.

Joe E. Lewis had a heavy hand with money. He loved to go Gulfstream and Hialeah with Kelly and me. She brought caviar and saltines for him, which irritated the head waiter. He chewed and drank whiskey. Often, he would hand a few hundred to me and say, "I'm goin' with the jock. I'll play the four horse."

The truth, Joe E. couldn't go broke because he had trust funds coming up every few months. Nobody had to toss a benefit for Joe. And yet, watching him select slow horses day after day I felt that the only thing he ever got out of Florida was a pale tan.

There was a woman from Boston who would show up at the hundred dollar window a couple of times a year. The mutuel men called her "The Lady in Red." She always bet the odds — on favorite to show and she always bet $20,000. She didn't make that much but she didn't lose much.

Duke Alard was a favorite at the hundred dollar window. He would bet $10,000 on a race, but he lived in a cheap room with a character named Scotty the Clocker.

On the way home from the track, they would buy a pound of baloney, a half-pound of potato salad, four seeded rolls and some pickles. They sat studying horse charts all night, eating off a penknife.

Somehow, they always lost it all near the end of a meet. When the last time was gone, Scotty the Clocker would reach into his big coat and whip out a pint of gin. He unscrewed the cap and emptied it in one drought.

One of the big bettors died. In his will he asked that his ashes be scattered across the Garden State Track. On the finish line, of course. Another brilliant loser was Chicago Dutch. He won $5,600 at Monmouth Park and put it on a three-horse entry to show.

He couldn't lose. But he did. A nag named Marriage took it all at 40-to-1. Chicago Dutch returned to Eddie's window, reached in and shook hands. "Pal," he murmured, "I'll see you next year."

Eddie said he had never met Damon Runyon. It was Runyon who wrote: "The horse is a stupid animal. You can get 10,000 men to pay to watch 10 horses run, but you would not get 10 horses to watch 10,000 men run."

Eddie O'donnell was always good for some track stories. He was the man behind the hundred dollar window...

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

As a former Pickaway countian, and long-time friend of the late Charles H. Radcliff, I join with countless thousands who mourn the passing of this popular, kindly man who became a legend in his own time.

County residents will long remember the efficiency, courtesy and friendliness of the late, former sheriff. During the course of his many years of public service as sheriff, Pickaway County came to be known far and wide as one of the better centers of law enforcement.

Charles Radcliff lived to see the sheriff's office gain additional prominence and respect through the diligent efforts of his son, Dwight, the present sheriff.

Charley had to be a proud father when he observed the department's expansion, modernization and innovations instituted by his son, Dwight. Continuing in the fine tradition of his father, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff heads an A-1 department.

The fact that Pickaway County is a desirable and preferred place in which to live and work is due in no small part to men like Charles and Dwight Radcliff.

Yours very truly,
CHARLES E. DIEHLMAN

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Pickaway County Heart Association, please accept my sincere thanks for your help in the 1977 Heart Fund Drive. Since so many of you have asked us to save the expense of sending you a personal thank-you note, we have chosen to acknowledge your efforts in this manner.

The main emphasis of the American Heart Association is research into cardiovascular disease, and your help in providing these funds for the upcoming year is a very valuable contribution to this program.

If anyone you know ever has a heart attack and lives to talk about it, he will be as grateful as we are that you took the time to care.

I would especially like to thank my three vice-chairmen: Richard Fischer, the city chairman; Chuck Pritchard, the rural chairman; and Drexel Poling, the business chairman, who have all done outstanding jobs in this year's Heart Fund Drive.

Again Thanks,
MICHAEL E. GERON, M.D.

Appeals Court Frees 2 Commissioners

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Lawrence County commissioners were free today after enduring brief jail stays for contempt of court in refusing to sign purchase orders for the county's juvenile and probate judge.

Common Pleas Court Judge Lloyd Burwell on Monday ordered the men to jail until they signed purchase orders for $1,000 in supplies that the judge requested.

Commission President W.H. Kaiser and member Mark Malone were jailed for two hours before they were freed by order of the 4th Court of Appeals in Steubenville. No hearing was set on the commissioners' appeal of the contempt finding.

A third member of the board, Louis Bryant, was held not in contempt after he stated he would sign the purchase orders.

Two of the three commission members must sign purchase orders to validate them.

The two who refused told the judge they did so because he allegedly had not followed proper purchasing methods. They said he ordered the equipment and supplies before taking office Jan. 3.

"I don't have to follow your procedures," the judge replied at the contempt hearing.

"You've got to pay these bills whether I do it backwards, forwards or in between. There is nothing that says I have to be polite about it," the judge added.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

"I don't know, Gloria... they raised the price a buck... what do you think?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our 13-year-old son has very definite enlargement of both breasts. This embarrasses him to the point that he refuses to swim or go to gym with his friends. Can anything be done about this? Will it get worse?

Mr. & Mrs. H. W., R.I.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. W.:

An abnormal enlargement of the breasts in the male is known as gynecomastia. The basic cause of this is often a hormone imbalance of the male sex hormone, androgen.

Much can be done about such conditions, especially when they are recognized early, studied intensively and treated actively.

Complicated hormone studies can provide information on the nature of the hormone balance, which frequently can be readjusted.

As you already suspect, the greatest problem associated with this condition is the psychological and emotional consequences, especially at the time of puberty. Your son can use a great deal of support in this area. He must be given the feeling that his masculinity is not threatened. He must also be given the assurance that something actively is being done to control the progression of his problem. Very frequently, the total condition spontaneously disappears as the youngster passes through adolescence and into young adulthood.

When medical, or hormonal, readjustment is not effective, surgery by the plastic surgeon or the general surgeon is effective. They can remove the overabundant breast tissue through incisions that are barely visible.

The surgery is safe, recovery is rapid and the psychological rewards are enormous.

My complaint is not as serious as cancer or arthritis, but it would be a blessing if someone could tell me how to prevent the painful corns on my feet.

Miss E. B. B., Iowa

Dear Miss B.:

Only those who suffer from the anguish of painful corns can appreciate the plaintive cry, "Oh, my aching corn!"

Corns or calluses are nature's protective reaction to constant pressure on a specific area of the foot. The "little toe" is the area most susceptible to injury caused by a tight or ill-fitting shoe.

First, the skin becomes inflamed, then layer on layer of hornified skin forms as a protective corn. Now the tenderness becomes marked.

The key to the prevention of corns is, of course, properly fitting shoes. Podiatrists and orthopedists should be consulted to find out if there are any other abnormalities in the arch or the bone structure of the foot to account for repeated corns and calluses.

A Blooming Idea

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flower and Garden Show, one of the largest horticultural exhibits in the country, will run March 13 through 20.

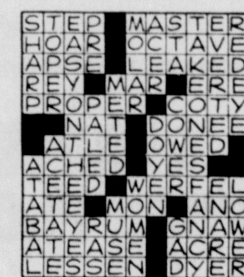

The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, sponsor of the show, organized the first flower show in the country in June, 1829. The society is celebrating its 150th anniversary this year.

Carter Lifts Ban . . .

assessment of the human rights ac-

During the presidential campaign, Carter himself had said the United States was involved in the Allende overthrow. On Oct. 6, in campaign debate, he said the Republican administration "overthrew an elected government and helped establish a military dictatorship."

Carter began the news conference with his announcement about travel to the four Communist nations.

He warned that Americans who want to visit those nations should take precautions because the United States has no diplomatic relations there and the establishment of such ties is "a doubtful prospect at this point."

Carter's announcement at a nationally broadcast news conference confirmed reports that had surfaced earlier at the State Department.

Carter also said he is sending Congress a $1.5-billion, youth employment program as part of his economic stimulation plan. He said it will seek the creation of about one million full-time jobs and one million summer jobs to counter extraordinarily high unemployment among young people, particularly minorities in urban areas.

Carter's economic stimulus program had been criticized recently by big city mayors for not doing more to produce summer jobs for young people.

During the news conference, the President also made these points:

—Said his commitment to withdraw ground troops from Korea has not changed. During the campaign, Carter favored a gradual withdrawal of ground troops. Any withdrawal, he said, would be accomplished over a four-to-five-year period and would have to be done in cooperation with the governments of South Korea and Japan.

—Speaking about the Middle East, the President said there may have to be some "minor adjustment" to borders established after the 1967 Israeli-Arab war. "We will know by mid-May the positions of the interested parties," Carter said.

He said he could not discuss details of new borders in the Middle East because he has not yet met with Arab leaders. The issue of new borders, he said, "is obviously one of the most serious problems."

—Asked about reports of a grand jury investigation of former CIA Director Richard Helms and whether Carter had asked for CIA documents about the matter, the President said: "I have not been asked for any documents and the Helms case has not come to my attention. Whether to proceed with the case will be the exclusive right of the Justice Department."

A grand jury reportedly is probing whether Helms lied to a congressional committee.

—Expressed complete confidence in Paul Warnke to be the U.S. arms negotiator. He acknowledged that he was concerned over the lack of confidence shown in Warnke during the Senate fight on his nomination. Asked whether the Senate debate would have any effect, Carter said that "I don't believe the exact vote in the Senate will have an effect on the future negotiations with the Soviet Union on

Rhodes Seeks New Centers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes proposed Tuesday night the construction of rehabilitation centers in Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati for treatment of injured workers and other handicapped persons.

The plan, presented to the Ohio Rehabilitation Study Commission, calls for private construction of the facilities which then would be leased to state agencies.

"It would not call for either the issuance of bonds or the expenditure of tax dollars," Rhodes said.

The governor said the project would be supported jointly by the rehabilitation commission, Industrial Commission and Bureau of Workers Compensation.

The Toledo center would have a capacity of about 100 residents and the others about 250, Rhodes said.

He announced he has named a special task force, cochaired by William W. Johnston, industrial commission chairman, and Warren Smith, Ohio AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, to expedite his plan.

Heavy Snow In Cascades

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy snow warning continued over the Cascade Mountains today, with gale warnings along the Pacific Northwest coast, and the storm was expected to remain over the Pacific Northwest another night.

Rainshowers, extending along the coast and mountains from northern California through Washington, turned to snow at higher elevations. Showers were scattered across the Idaho Panhandle into western Montana.

Some light and welcome light rain developed over the Dakotas during the night, but skies were clear or almost cloudless over much of the nation.

Temperatures remained mild over the upper Midwest, and record high temperatures for the date were broken in nine states, reaching from Wyoming to Indiana.

SALT (strategic arms limitation talks)."

—Said he would talk to a man holding a hostage in Ohio if the gunman released his captive. Cory Moore, a 25-year-old black man, has been holding a white policeman hostage since Monday, demanding to talk to Carter about what he said was oppression of blacks.

The President said he was concerned that the Ohio case might be a precedent. "It is a dangerous precedent to make. I weighed that before my own decision ... I hope the police officer is released, but if he is released I would talk to him (Moore)."

Tax Rebate .

maximum standard deductions would be replaced by a flat $2,400 for single persons and $3,000 for couples.

It would produce a $166 annual tax cut for a family of four with an income of $12,500 who do not itemize. Itemizers would get nothing, but tax experts estimate 5.5 million will find it to their advantage to take the standard deduction.

The legislation also would extend through 1978 the current temporary tax reductions for individuals and businesses, including the present $35 tax credit and a bonus of up to $400 for working poor families.

By 341 to 74, the House accepted the committee's plan for a new job-stimulating tax reduction program for businesses, especially smaller firms, that hire new workers this year and next year.

The government, in effect, would pay up to $1,680 of the first $4,200 in wages for each of 24 new workers whom a firm hires.

The tax legislation is part of Carter's $32 billion, two-year program to boost consumer spending and stimulate the economy. Other features of the program would increase government spending for public works, public service jobs and job-training projects.

Shoemaker To Introduce 'Sunset Law'

Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-Bourneville, chairman of the House Finance Appropriations Committee, will introduce a bill to the 112th General Assembly calling for a two-year expiration date on all taxes and fees enacted in the Ohio Revised Code.

The bill, dubbed the "Sunset Taxation Law", will be proposed to become effective July 1, 1979. It would require the Governor to include in each future biennial budget submission, starting in fiscal year, 1978-1979, his recommendations as to which taxes and at what rates those taxes should be levied for the purpose of funding proposed programs.

The bill would require a total review of all taxes and justification for all State programs every two years. Rep. Shoemaker called the bill "The answer to zero-based budgeting and all sunset laws rolled into one".

The chairman hopes to eliminate the "finger pointing" as to who is responsible for raising existing taxes, or enacting new taxes, if necessary, in the future. "We want to ensure that each budget the Governor proposes is balanced, and that new taxes or increases in existing taxes be identified by the Governor at the start of each new biennium", Mr. Shoemaker concluded.

The bill is scheduled to be introduced this week.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

The Derby United Methodist Church is sponsoring a spaghetti supper to be held on March 26 in the Fellowship Hall. Come and bring your friends.

The carry-in supper at the Derby United Methodist Church last Sunday evening was such a big success that the Fish Net group are planning more of the same later on. Their next meeting will be March 13 from 2-4 p.m. at the Church with Bible study from 3-4 p.m. All age groups are invited to attend.

What are you giving up for Lent?

Brownie troop 149 for girls of kindergarten and first grade age meets Wednesdays after classes at the Derby Elementary school. The group met for their long awaited doll party on February 19 at the home of Mrs. Nancy Rawlins, Ballah Road, and it was a tremendous success. Twenty girls attended. Each brought a doll and wardrobe to model, short skirts were presented by the girls, and all participated in the almost lost art of making apple butter. Each step, from peeling the apples to cooking and canning was enjoyed but best of all the use of an old fashioned food mill for grinding the apples. Mrs. Rawlins is still quite interested in forming a cub scout group for little boys first grade and kindergarten age and interested parents are urged to contact her at her home, or call 877-4646, as there are so few social activities for children in this age group.

Remember when all the town children gathered for ice-skating on the pond behind the Derby M. E. Church?

The daughters of Herman and Mary Rowland gathered to celebrate their mother's birthday on February 17. Present were Pat and Julene Igel and family, Elizabeth Rogers and children, and George and Jenny Wickham and sons.

Their father Herman, a shut-in for several years now, would appreciate a card or visit from friends.

Bill Erb, very ill at his home would love to hear from his friends or stop in and pay him a visit.

Mrs. Flonnie Vance, a recent patient in Madison County Hospital would be happy to hear from her Derby friends.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Use Strength And Straight Talk

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old woman who is taking over a prosperous family business started by my grandfather. This is a small town, and my grandfather formed some valuable business relationships with men who are still very important to the success of our business.

The problem is that these "gentlemen" find me quite attractive. So much, in fact, that I have found myself backed up against the wall, hugged, squeezed and generally mauled by these kindly old buzzards, while they keep reminding me that they've been good customers for over four decades.

If these men were my age, I could handle them, but they're all over 65, and trying singlehandedly (and sometimes doublehandedly) to close the generation gap.

Is there a way to keep this business (and myself) on our feet?

EDGY

DEAR EDGY: If you're a good businesswoman, you'll keep the business on its feet without tolerating passes from lecherous grandfather types. It may take the technique of an O.J. Simpson or a Tony Dorsett on broken-field running, but that, plus a good straight-arm (and, if necessary, some straight talk) is all you need.

DEAR ABBY: When a guy asks me to dance, how can I turn him down without hurting his feelings? I'm 16, if that makes any difference. Thank you. CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: Say, "Thanks, but I think you'd be more interesting to talk to. Shall we sit it out?" (P.S. Then you'd better have something to talk about, even if it's only a string of questions to keep the conversation moving.)

DEAR ABBY: Right now I am so upset I want to get this off my chest to relieve my own anxiety, and if you print it in your column it will be a big favor to many women.

I am in my eighth month with my first child, and today I had a checkup. Coming home on the bus, I sat next to a motherly-looking woman who struck up a conversation with me. She talked about nothing but the horrors of childbirth!

She had had six and lost two. Her sister had a child who was born deaf and blind, and her daughter's first child was retarded because of the long and complicated labor she had endured. Then her neighbor's baby strangled on the umbilical cord during the birth process. Abby, by the time I got off that bus I was shaking like a leaf!

Please tell well-meaning (?) women that pregnant women do not want to hear such tales, and if they can't say something cheerful about childbirth not to say anything at all.

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: You've said it all. And very well. Let's hope it gives those bearers of bad tidings cause to pause.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box. No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Business Classes Comply With State Standards

By PAULA BLUBAUGH
One of the classes that are offered at Logan Elm is Business Office Education (B.O.E.). This course prepares students during their junior and senior years to perform office and secretarial skills.

MRS. AMBER BIGAM

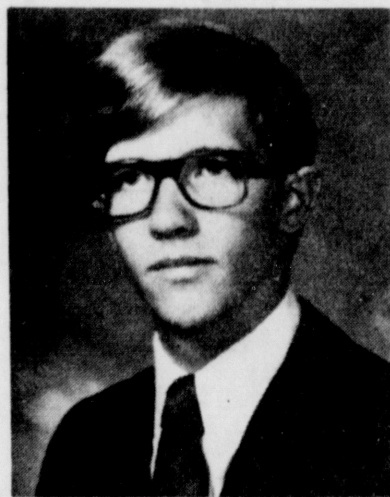

Each class period is three hours in length with a fifteen minute break. The class can be no larger than 25 students. Each desk must be in an L shape with an electric typewriter and calculator. These requirements must be met for financial aid to be received from the state of Ohio.

During the spring of each year the junior and senior students go out on jobs. Approximately forty companies participate in this program.

During their junior and senior year students study shorthand, typing, calculation and business English. By the end of the year students should be able to type 60 words a minute for five minutes and be able to take shorthand at 80 words.

The senior year is a little harder with more shorthand and typing. Added to the list are bookkeeping, office practice, and filing. By the end of their senior year, students should be able to type 70 words a minute and take shorthand at 100 words a minute for three minutes.

Senior Awarded Scholarship

CHRIS BLUBAUGH

By P. J. BLUBAUGH

Chris Blubaugh, a senior at Logan Elm High School, is the first student in the history of Logan Elm to make finalist in the National Merit program.

The scholarship granted to Chris will cover a minimum of $500 for a total of four years. He plans to attend Ohio State University this fall, where he will study Chemical Engineering.

Chris lives at 29989 Poling Road, Kingston, and is employed by the Blue Drummer Steak House. He is a member of the National Honor Society and is active in choir, boys ensemble and stage band.

Low Funds Reported By Junior Treasurer

By LEE ROBINETTE

Jeff McKay, the Junior class treasurer, said the two main money making projects for the Logan Elm Junior class were the ball game concession stands and the Junior class play.

Jeff said that neither project has brought in a lot of money this year. Between the two, the stands brought in less money because L.E. has been having more away basketball games than home ones.

Jeff would like to thank all the Juniors who gave up so much of their free time to work in the stands.

Thank You

Dear Student, Faculty and Friends:
To simply say "Thank you" seems so inadequate, but let me assure you we are deeply grateful to you for your help.

When the news spread about the fire at our home so many of you contacted us wanting to help in any way. We feel so thankful to have such wonderful friends and appreciated your efforts. Everyone did so much and we didn't expect anything more, but on Monday, the 14th of February, you really "shook" us.

The special assembly was a complete surprise because I didn't have the slightest idea what it was for. The ball game, the work and your donations just overwhelmed me. I just couldn't think of the words to express my gratitude and quite frankly I found it very difficult to say anything except "Thank you."

The disaster we experienced we would like to forget but the wonderful people that have come to our rescue we will always remember.

Sincerely,
COACH BILL FROST

Playing Hooky Is Serious Offense

By ALLEN STROUS

Playing hooky and getting away with it isn't getting any easier. Tough measures dealing with people who are absent without excuses now apply at Logan Elm.

All people who miss school must bring a written excuse stating why they were out on returning to school. If they do not bring an excuse within a few days after coming back, or if they were absent for reasons which school officials do not consider proper, their absences are considered unexcused. People with unexcused absences are generally not allowed to make up work from the days they missed.

Furthermore, according to Paul Brown, high school vice-principal who oversees the keeping of attendance records, the names of people with unexcused absences are given to county school attendance authorities. The people receive a letter stating school attendance laws if it is the first time they have had an unexcused absence.

When students have had two unexcused absences, their case becomes the sole concern of the county authorities. The county takes them to juvenile court where they are usually given probation although their penalty may vary due to the presiding judge. The judge considers the home life of the student and whether he has been in any previous trouble. If the student continues to have unexcused absences, he receives stiffer punishments and may be taken from his parents.

Brown stated that he has seen no increase or decrease in unexcused absences in recent years.

JIM WILLISON

Don't Bust Yourself

By MICHELE EBERT

"Don't bust yourself!" was the message to all underclassmen at LE from Jim Willison.

Jim is a senior at LE. His activities include: bowling club, student council, and senior class play. He enjoys working at WNRE as a disc jockey because "There's always something new to learn," Jim explained.

When not at school or work, he passes his time by studying electronics, hunting, telling jokes (especially one liners), and fishing. Sweetcorn is his favorite food, John Denver his most admired singer, and psychology his most enjoyable subject.

In Jim's senior will, he is leaving his voice to "MOON MAN". In his four years at LE, Jim best liked being and laughing with other people.

Bowling Team Has Large Membership

By TERRY HAMPTON

The 1976-77 bowling team at Logan Elm is already underway. This year's president is Kevin Driesbach, with Jim Willison as his vice president. The bowling league has 52 weekly bowlers and 22 substitutes. There are 13 teams with 4 to a team.

Tom Davis holds the yearly first, second, and third places in high games and high series. His high game is 225. Cathy Watson holds the girls high game with a 202. Brenda McDevitt is in second place with a 174, and last but not least is Kim Hayslip with a 172. It seems that everyone always leaves out the last place and never gives them any recognition, so here is the last place team: Jackie Goode with a 74 average, Ronna Parker with a 91, Sheri Thomas with a 97 average and Suzy Speakman with a whopping 90.

Part of the team's dues goes to treasurer Jodie DeLong for a party at the end of the year. The bowling team would like to thank Ellen Leist, the advisor, for getting the ball rolling—no pun intended.

Col. James Kilbourne, who surveyed and named Bucyrus in his youth, later told how he happened to choose the name of the town, honoring his boyhood hero, the Persian general Cyrus and adding "Bu" as a prefix for "beautiful." He was so enamored of the town, one historian says, that he wrote an eight-stanza poem in praise of it.—AP

New Coach Organizes Track Team

By ALLEN STROUS

The boys track team, getting ready for this season's activities, has a new coach. George Bouldin, LE English and history teacher, starts his first year as track coach this spring. Also, Butch Kobel assumes the duties as assistant coach for the first time.

Training will begin March 7. The team which will be composed of about 30 members, will be involved in such events as the 100 yd. dash, the 220 yd. dash, the 440 yd. dash, the 880 yd. dash, high and low hurdles, the mile relay, the 880 yd. relay, pole vaulting, long jumping, high jumping, the discus throw and the shot put. These are all standard track events, Coach Bouldin stated.

The first meet of the season will be an indoor invitational held at French Field House on the Ohio State University campus on March 21.

Vocational School Classes Described

By CHUCK KREISEL

Not all of Logan Elm students attend the High School, some attend the Joint Vocational School. What exactly are classes like at J.V.S?

The aid of the vocational school teacher is to train and prepare the student to be able to go out and make a living at his or her chosen trade.

For example, in cosmetology the students are trained in the basic procedures of beauty culture, such as scalp treatments, shampoos, rinses, manicuring, facial treatments and massage. Other subjects covered in the course are anatomy, physiology, and how to manage your own business.

In Auto Mechanics the program is devoted to developing skills in the maintenance and repair of automobiles. A minimum of three hours is spent daily in the shop working on automobiles or other parts. In addition to that, one and a half hours are spent in classes designed to develop concepts, theories, and skills in shop mathematics, science, automotive service manual use, automotive electricity, sketching, and reading diagrams.

Students practice on automobiles which are brought into the shop by the public.

Cosmotologists Visited Home Ec Classes

By JULIE WEAVER

On March 2, the home economics classes were visited by four young ladies from Ohio State School of Cosmetology and their instructor, Kathy O'Donnell. Their reason for visiting Logan Elm was to receive credit for their school requirements.

The cosmotologists arrived early in the morning, before school began, and stayed for the remainder of the school day. The home economics girls had their hair styled and their faces made-up properly. The styles they used were easy and simple. The girls of Logan Elm really enjoyed the beauty day.

Rock Group Performs At School

By DEBBIE GOLDSBERRY

On Feb. 15 the Challenger's performed in the McDowell gym for junior high and high school students and faculty. The Challengers, a rock group, are made up of eight performers. The group was started by the leader, John Evans in 1968, he is the only original member of the group.

When the Challengers started performing students began to forget about their school problems and were soon clapping and enjoying themselves. The Challengers played a range of songs from the 50's to the present 70's.

They travel from coast to coast and also perform in foreign countries. When asked what the most rewarding feeling they received from performing John Evans quickly replied, "We love to see people enjoy themselves."

Each of the members enjoy different types of music so they try to combine the different sounds to please their audiences. With all their talents the Challengers even write songs, they are now working on releasing a record, "Country Girls," which will probably be a hit.

The students greatly enjoyed the Challengers and are looking forward to seeing them next year.

The group also played at Teays Valley High School.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

President Carter's proposed budget adjustments did nothing to reverse the trend of greater levels of federal spending and correspondingly higher deficits.

The budget recommendations sent by the new President to Congress called for spending levels that exceeded President Ford's projections by $19.4 billion, with a projected deficit increase of $10.7 billion. That represented an increase of better than 20 per cent in the Fiscal Year 1978 budget deficit proposed by President Ford.

The House only added to the problem this week by approving a conference report on the Third Budget Resolution for Fiscal Year 1977, which contained record-breaking deficit spending. It approved a $69.7 billion federal deficit, which is $3.3 billion higher than the previous record set last year. I voted against the resolution.

The Carter economic stimulus program is strongly tied to his proposal for a $50 income tax rebate for certain individuals on their 1976 income taxes. The rebate plan shelves President Ford's recommendation of $10 billion in permanent income tax cuts.

When considered by the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, the Carter rebate proposal drew the opposition of Committee Republicans, who felt that permanent tax cuts would have a much stronger and more positive influence on encouraging needed spending and investing than small rebates, offered to American taxpayers on a one-time-only basis.

However, since President Carter apparently is committed to increased spending for social programs and has promised a balanced budget at the same time, he can be expected to oppose permanent tax cuts which would mean permanent decreases in the Government's revenue base.

The concept of a balanced budget by 1981, as advocated by President Carter, is an extremely worthwhile goal, and one which would be welcomed by taxpayers everywhere. In fact, many of us in Congress have made that same recommendation for years.

It remains to be seen if the President can change the habits of this Democrat-controlled Congress. They have not been so inclined during the more than two decades they have been in control.

Yet, the President Carter's promise of a balanced budget hardly seems a realistic expectation, in view of his support of greater spending for costly social programs, which grow like topsy, to the tune of $5.7 billion.

While the President proposed a $1.5 billion expenditure for education in his budget revisions, he did recommend that impact aid for school districts in areas with large federal institutions be terminated.

President Carter had threatened to cut the defense budget by as much as $7 billion, but his budget recommendations called for considerably less than that. His proposed spending level was $300 million below that called for by President Ford.

It is difficult to know what the Carter White House thinks about the state of this nation's defenses. However, at a time when the Soviet Union is expanding its military capability on virtually every front, our need for a strong defense posture is clear.

Overall, the Carter revisions showed fairly moderate increases in spending — but increases nevertheless, and with the same dire consequences.

The crippling inflation which threatens to undermine all efforts to revitalize our nation's economy, cannot be brought under control as long as the President recommends billions of increased spending, and Congress obliges him — or even worse, gives him even more than he asks.

'Angel' Set To Depart TV Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Farrah Fawcett-Majors, the tawny-haired leader of female television detectives and star of shaving cream commercials, will not return to her top-rated series, "Charlie's Angels," her manager says.

Miss Fawcett-Majors, 30, notified her producers that she is quitting the show after its first year, her manager Jay Bernstein said Monday, confirming reports that had been circulating for weeks.

Her attorney, Charles Silverberg, said his client planned to pursue a career in films. He denied that the actress was threatening to leave the series as a ploy for more money and said she had "never had a signed agreement" with the producers, Spelling-Goldberg Productions.

Neither producer Aaron Spelling nor Miss Fawcett-Majors could be reached for comment.

Officials at ABC declined to comment.

Production for the first year of the show has been completed.

Miss Fawcett-Majors became widely known through more than 100 television commercials, with products including cars, shampoos, milk, makeup, airlines, soft drinks and sun glasses, but her popularity zoomed to new heights in "Charlie's Angels."

Blood Donors Get Part Returned

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The 32 young people lying in recliner chairs study or sleep, oblivious to the rock music blaring from a portable radio — and to the tubes sprouting from their arms and the blood trickling into plastic bags.

For many of them, this is their only job.

"It's not really like selling blood," one student says. "It's more like renting it."

The scene is the Bio-Resources Inc., laboratory and offices near the University of Wisconsin campus and the people in the chairs — most of them students — are among thousands who give blood for money each week.

Actually, office director Jean Pecotte explained, the donors are only giving part of their blood, the plasma. After extraction, the blood is put into a centrifuge which spins around to separate the plasma from the whole blood, she said.

Then, while the plasma is flash-frozen and packaged for shipment to pharmaceutical firms, the blood is returned to the donor's arm. A saline solution is also injected into the donor's veins to make up the volume of the lost plasma.

"They leave with what they came in with," Mrs. Pecotte said.

She said Bio-Resources purposely picked the campus area to set up its operation three years ago in an effort to get away from the image of professional blood-donor operations catering to derelicts.

"We didn't want that kind of population," she said. "Ours is a clean population, a thinking donor population."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Through sleet and snow and howling winds, the U.S. economy seems to have resolutely faced the storm, its head bowed for a time against the onslaughts, but eventually enduring against the savage elements.

Well, something like that anyway. The business and financial economists hereabouts are coming to the conclusion that the economic damage is largely repairable and that the winter's woes might be the spring's strength.

The Morgan Guaranty "Survey" reports "The first real clues are in, and they tend to confirm that, while hard hit for several weeks when the weather was at its worst, the U.S. recovery has not suffered lasting damage."

Citibank's publication, "Economic Week," comments that "manufacturers are still sanguine despite weather," and that "the stage is set for a rebound in production once weather and energy conditions allow."

Bache Halsey Stuart, the brokerage house, adds its opinion that while the total bill from the severe winter weather in the East might total $5 billion, the effect on the immediate future might be bullish.

"The most likely forecast," it states, "is a sharp temporary spurt in economic output in the second quarter," a consequence of depleted inventories, an easing of the gas shortage, and fiscal stimulus.

Economic commentators already are remarking on the relatively small impact of the weather on jobless statistics, on the quick recovery of car sales, and what they perceive to be a consumer mood more buoyant than expected.

They are noting with wonder that through the worst of it all the level of capital appropriations rose and that somehow the single-family home market seems to have benefited from an injection of buyer confidence.

All of us have seen these remarkable changes of outlook in financial circles before, particularly in the stock market. The anticipated worst fails to materialize, a few good reports emerge, the weather turns benign, and the outlook shines like the sun itself.

And in truth, the economy does seem to have come through the worst of the horrible winter in fairly good shape.

This elation, however, could be something to be enjoyed now. Like the innocent man who has just had his death sentence commuted, there is immediate joy, followed by the numbing realization that the remaining sentence is a formidable obstacle that must be removed.

Perhaps the most immediate of the pressing problems is the lack of water in large areas of the West, mainly in the California fruit and vegetable growing areas.

Preoccupied with its own problems, the heavily populated eastern half of the nation probably has yet to see the full economic impact of the western drought, which is bound to show up in food bills.

Still, a feeling exists that the worst is over.

Nichols Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — R. Hal Nichols of Sharon Center in Medina County, has been named Superintendent of Banks by Gov. James A. Rhodes, filling the unexpired term of Scott O'Donnell, the governor's office said Tuesday.

Nichols, 34, a vice president of the commercial loan department of the Old Phoenix National Bank, Medina, and a former national bank examiner, will assume the new post on April 3.

O'Donnell, who resigned effective March 14, will be replaced for the interim period by Gene A. McMahon of Columbus, deputy superintendent.

Group Withdraws From Nuclear Suit

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — A consumers group has withdrawn from a suit, seeking to block the proposed Marble Hill nuclear generating station on the Ohio River.

The decision by Indiana Citizens Energy Coalition means it will not participate in the environmental hearings opening today at Madison. A spokesman for the Indianapolis-based group said the withdrawal shouldn't suggest it is dropping opposition to the $1.6 billion facility proposed by Public Service Indiana.

Fritz Wiecking, coalition executive director, said, "We have decided the city of Madison, people in Jefferson County and officials in Kentucky are doing a very effective job in bringing out the issues in this dispute."

High Court Sidesteps Death Penalty Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is passing up an opportunity to decide whether the death penalty is valid for someone who took part in a crime leading to murder but didn't actually kill anyone.

That question was a key issue in an appeal by a condemned Texas inmate, Ernest Benjamin Smith Jr. The court refused to consider his case Monday. Only three of nine justices voted to hear his arguments, one vote short.

Smith, 29, a resident of the state's death row at Huntsville, was convicted in the 1973 armed robbery of a Dallas convenience store in which clerk William Moon was shot and killed. Testimony at Smith's trial established that his criminal partner, Howie Robinson, shot Moon as the clerk appeared to be reaching for a hidden gun.

Like many states with death penalty laws, Texas has a so-called "felony murder" statute that allows juries to sentence non-killers to death if a murder arises from their crime.

In choosing not to review Smith's case, the court automatically ended a stay of execution granted last November by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. A new date for Smith's death in the electric chair likely will be scheduled soon.

Smith's appeal raised only one of many capital punishment questions not answered by the court last July 2 when it upheld as constitutional the death penalty laws in Georgia, Texas and Florida.

The court said then that states using certain guidelines could sentence murderers to death. The court will hear arguments on March 28 in cases that could expand those crimes for

Carter Sets Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will make his first overseas trip early in May when he attends an international economic summit in London, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell announced today.

Although Powell said he had nothing more to announce at that time, he indicated that Carter likely would remain in Europe after the scheduled May 7-8 meeting to confer with leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The London summit, to be held at the 10 Downing St. residence of Prime Minister James Callaghan, will be the third meeting of government heads of Britain, Canada, West Germany, France, Italy, Japan and the United States.

The first economic conference of the major non-Communist industrialized nations took place in Rambouillet, near Paris, in 1975. The national leaders got together again last year outside San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Although Powell said the purpose would be to discuss the economic problems of both the developed and developing countries, he added in response to a question, "My understanding is there is not a limitation to strictly economic issues."

CERAMIC NUT
A FRUSTRATED HUSBAND
(by Lorraine M. Olsen, from her husband's point of view.)

Everyone needs a hobby — a pastime to enjoy —
But my wife has picked a hobby that really can annoy.

Once a week she comes alive, her world's a happy place.
I know that she is "hooked," I can see it in her face.

She's really cute about it in her unassuming way,
Her week begins and ends on each Ceramic Day.

Everywhere I glance I see "treasures" that she's made;
She even hoards her money to see the teacher's paid.

In every nook and corner, drawers and closets too,
Evidence is mounting a psychiatrist is due!

All her bygone hobbies are really in despair
I'd like to have a talk with her — but I don't really dare.

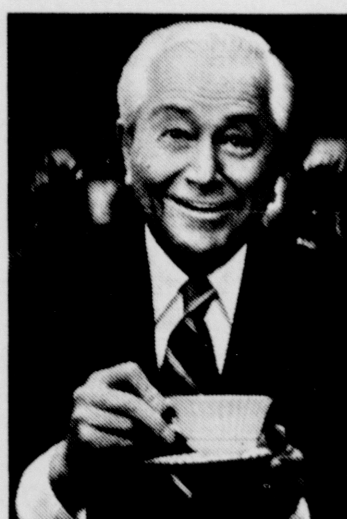

She even goes with "migraines" — God knows that she's not able —
She'd attempt Ceramics with her head upon the table!

This year she won a ribbon, much to her delight,
Now she's aiming for a blue one to hang beside the white.

For all her worthy efforts, I'm longing for the day
When my wife returns to normal and I replace the clay!

School Prayer Problems Return

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The always sensitive issue of school prayer is set for another go-round in the legislature and the lines have already been drawn.

"We have often heard how one or two people, or at least a small minority has been able to remove practically all references to anything of a spiritual nature from our public activities," said Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna. "It seems to me that it is about time we make our collective voice heard."

On the other side of the issue is the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio, guardian of the separation of church and state principle. "We will oppose the present language," ACLU Ohio Director Benson Wolman said of the Locker bill.

Locker, a teacher, has essentially revived a bill that was introduced late in the previous session. It received several hearings but was never voted out of committee.

The new bill, set for a hearing Tuesday in the House Education Committee, directs that boards of education "shall require each teacher" to provide one minute of silence in class each day for "meditation and prayer."

Simple enough. It is based on a Massachusetts law in an obvious effort to skirt the U.S. Supreme Court decision against school prayer by making prayer optional for the pupil.

"As sponsor of the bill, I want to make it clear that is not the intent to force anyone to accept or take part in a specific demonstrational prayer," Locker said. "The sole purpose is to allow time, at the beginning of each school day, for the students to pause and think beyond their immediate surroundings."

The problem with that, in Wolman's view, is the mandatory "shall require" clause and writing the word "prayer" into statutory law.

"Teachers will say, 'all right everybody, it's time for prayer,'" Wolman contends. "It would be an open legitimization for what already goes on."

Wolman said the ACLU could accept a permissive bill that did not make a specific reference to prayer.

"We could live with a period of silence for meditation, but not meditation or prayer," he said.

Things almost got out of hand during proponent hearings on the previous bill in the House Judiciary Committee. One Protestant minister attempted to lead a prayer in the hearing room and others, at times, came close to sermonizing in giving testimony on the bill.

House Education Committee chairman Robert J. Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, said he intended to permit witnesses "free expression" on the measure, within a limited time frame.

Boggs said he asked Locker for assurances that proponents appearing before the panel were "constructive."

The 28-year-old full time legislator, who is personally sympathetic toward the bill, said he planned to call for a committee vote after two or three hearings.

Of all the men who have been Secretary of the Treasury, only three are in the Hall of Fame in New York, and two of the three are Ohioans—Salmon P. Chase of Cincinnati and John Sherman of Mansfield.—AP

Wheat Price Program Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says there is no wheat price fixing deal with Canada, at least not for the time being, but he wants to talk more about the idea.

The domestic sugar situation is something else, however, and Bergland said Tuesday he soon will make recommendations to the White House to help hardpressed producers.

Two weeks ago Bergland told reporters about a possible arrangement with Canada on the price of wheat sold on the world market. He clearly indicated that while the plan was only in the embryo stage it could lead to the two countries' setting the world prices of wheat.

But Bergland has come under severe criticism from major segments of the private grain trade and other quarters, particularly since he talked over the general idea on Feb. 25 with Otto Lang, Canada's top official in the grain marketing system.

"We set no price, we formed no cartel. That was the figment of some reporter's imagination," Bergland told a National Press Club Luncheon Tuesday. "We did agree, however, that we're in this thing together, and so we agreed that we're going to talk again."

As he did earlier, Bergland noted that the two countries control about 75 per cent of the world's wheat exports and are building up large surpluses. Thus, he said, it will hurt both Canada and the United States if a price war develops just to sell off stockpiles.

Sugar producers are in critical shape because of low prices, Bergland said. He has been considering a plan that will reduce import quotas on cheaply produced foreign sugar as a way to boost domestic prices.

Price supports and direct payments to American growers also are a possibility.

Although Bergland did not spell out any of his sugar plan alternatives, he said that he will recommend an action plan to the White House in a few days. The International Trade Commission, which has been studying the impact of sugar imports on the domestic industry, is scheduled to make its recommendations Thursday.

Raw sugar prices have been well below the break-even level for sugar beet and cane producers, said Bergland. There is no sign the market will improve of its own accord, so government must step in, he added.

Noting that there might be consumer resistance to the government's artificially propping up sugar prices to farmers, Bergland said he did not believe significant retail price increases would be justified.

Two or three years ago when sugar prices soared to around 65 cents a pound the prices of food products containing sugar — ice cream, candy, jelly, bread and other baked goods — also went up. Sugar prices are now at only a fraction of their former peak.

"But the price of products made from sugar somehow have not reflected that drop in price," Bergland said.

If the government adopts a policy of boosting sugar prices to help growers by a few cents a pound there will be "no economic justification" for those food prices to go up again.

Court May Be Closed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dennis J. Kucinich, court clerk here, said Tuesday he may have to shut down the courts after being informed all but 500,000 has been sliced from his $2 million budget.

"With no budget, I am forced to make preparations to shut down the courts," Kucinich said.

Kucinich said he will have to lay off all 111 employees in his office, stop collecting fines and cease every other function of his office if the funds are not reinstated.

Judge Edward F. Katalinas, Cleveland Municipal Court administrative judge, said, "The courts are not going to close. The clerk may lose his office, but I will not allow the courts to be shut down."

At issue is about $1.5 million in undistributed court costs which Kucinich has invested in certificates of deposit. Kucinich has been paying the city interest on the money.

The Cleveland City Council and city administration have demanded the money be deposited in the city treasury and have cited a state law requiring the clerk to deposit unclaimed funds by April 1 each year.

Kucinich said state law requires him to hold the money until his office attempts to determine who it belongs to.

The council then announced it has cut his budget by the $1.5 million.

A meeting was scheduled today between Kucinich and council representatives to seek a compromise.

Language Proves Plan In Bias Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Robert M. Duncan took pains to avoid "often unfamiliar and mysterious" legal language in his 86-page finding that school officials are responsible for segregation in the Columbus system.

The opinion Tuesday came almost nine months after the close of testimony in the non-jury trial. Duncan had hoped to issue it before the end of the year, but said he was delayed by a heavy criminal case load.

"I am well aware that many people are unfamiliar with and distressed by the law of the land which requires that school desegregation decisions, involving the education of our precious children, must often be made by a single judge, rather than governmental officials or the voters," he wrote in introductory remarks.

And he said a school desegregation problem "is one we could all do better without, but there is no denying that it is just that—a problem for our community—a problem that won't simply go away if left alone."

But he said the court could not "evade its responsibility."

"If my conclusions are in error, the error will be easy for those who review to discern," the 49-year-old jurist said. "It is my duty as a judge of this court to follow the law—and likewise it is the duty of the citizens of this community to follow this decision so long as it is the law."

Duncan provided an appendix, glossary of terms and school district maps at the back of the pamphlet-like opinion.

He promised at the outset of the decision: "In the writing that follows, the court will strive to avoid language that may not be clear to all who choose to read this decision."

Duncan, appointed by former President Nixon as the first black federal judge in Ohio, was not available for comment after release of the decision. He had said earlier that if it did not speak for itself, then his attempt at legal clarity should be considered a failure.

Busing Certain In Columbus?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — School officials here will be hard pressed to avoid busing of some pupils away from neighborhood schools if they are to meet desegregation guidelines set by a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Robert M. Duncan ordered the Columbus and state boards of education Tuesday to submit racial balance plans for the 1977-78 school year to him within 90 days.

The two school boards have until March 18 to appeal to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, but preparation of a remedy plan must go ahead during the appeals process.

Duncan said the appeals court decision in the Dayton desegregation case which led to limited cross-town busing in that city set a "binding precedent" for his Southern District court.

Hope Fades For Quake Victims

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Hope faded for trapped earthquake victims today as rescuers and trained dogs pressed a round-the-clock search through the rubble of collapsed apartment buildings.

"Last night the dogs found a family still alive over there," said a sergeant at the ruins of the Scala cafe and apartment house, "but when we got to them this morning, they were all dead — father, mother and daughter."

The official toll in Romania is still 1,034 dead, 810 of them in Bucharest, and 6,185 injured. But dead bodies are still being found in the rubble and have not been added to the total.

The Scala was one of 32 apartment buildings that collapsed in the Romania capital during the quake last Friday night. Three men and three dogs from the Swiss Catastrophe Dog Association searched at the ruins.

Aneta Balasau, 20, was found alive late Tuesday after being trapped for nearly 100 hours without food or water. She was taken to a military hospital where doctors said her crushed leg would have to be amputated below the knee. Her family was killed.

Temperatures that had been as high as 50 degrees dropped to near freezing Tuesday night, increasing the risk to trapped survivors of death from exposure. But except for a brief shower Monday, rescue workers have been helped by clear weather.

The workers said it would be days before they had cleared all the debris and recovered all bodies.

Meanwhile, Yugoslav officials said light tremors shook the area around Krusevac, about 95 miles south of Belgrade, Tuesday night and early today, but no damage or injuries were reported.

Foreign aid to the Romanian victims was picking up, with planes arriving or due from 13 nations. East Germany appeared to be taking the lead, sending one or more plane loads of medical supplies and food daily.

His 86-page opinion found state and local officials guilty of depriving black Columbus school children of their constitutional rights to equal protection under law. They were assessed court costs and ordered to remedy the situation brought to the court by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Each black school child in Columbus must have an opportunity for the integrated education and attendant educational advantages contemplated by Brown I and the case which have followed," Duncan wrote.

The landmark 1954 U.S. Supreme Court decision in the Brown versus the Topeka, Kan., Board of Education case wiped out the concept of "separate but equal" schools. Duncan said schools in the state's second largest district were "openly and intentionally segregated" before that decision and since then school officials have "for the most part ignored repeated requests for an integrated educational system."

Racially isolated housing patterns interacted with schools promoting segregation in each, he said.

"I do not suggest that any reasonable action by the school authorities could have fully cured the evils of residential segregation," Duncan said. "I do believe, however, that the Columbus defendants could and should have acted to break the segregative snowball created by their interaction with housing."

He banned any new construction of school facilities in Columbus, unless first approved by him.

Black pupils amount to 32.5 per cent of the nearly 96,000-pupil Columbus school system.

An appeal was expected in the case, although neither school board was ready to announce such a step Tuesday.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex, who was named individually as a defendant, said he did "not accept the opinion that the state school board was negligent or had any segregational intent."

"At no point," Essex said, "was the Department of Education or the state school board acquainted with any report by anyone that illegal acts were taking place in the Columbus schools and we cannot accept this as a valid conclusion."

Duncan said the state was asked in 1971 by the Columbus Area Civil Rights Council to move on desegregation in the city's schools.

Farm Land Mostly Dry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warm weather and some rain in parts of the country last week helped farmers with their spring field work, but most of the nation's midsection and far West still need much more precipitation, according to the Agriculture Department.

"Soil moisture was short in the North Central states, and in the West," the department said Tuesday. Elsewhere soil moisture ranged from adequate to surplus.

Some precipitation as rain or snow "temporarily improved" the moisture situation in some of the North Central area, officials said.

"Southern pastures greened and provided a limited amount of forage to cattle herds," the report said. "In northern areas pastures greened but did not grow enough to be grazed."

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Here is a splendid day for handling both routine matters and extraordinary projects. New advances indicated in some ventures which have hitherto been standing still.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid present tendencies to scatter energies and to start too many things at one time. Recognize (and make) necessary changes in plans previously considered perfect.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Good aspects. Do not become involved in the confusion prevalent in certain areas. Stride forward with a firm, steady step toward sound objectives.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may receive helpful backing in a business venture from persons you were not counting on. Gains also indicated through correspondence.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Start out on your own power, build up momentum, and you can make your own "breaks." A new turn of events should not deter you from following through on your program.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Old routines may prove more effectual than certain new ones which may be suggested. However, be an astute judge - considering every factor, angle, clue.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Neither renege on promises nor attempt too much. Both extremes are likely now. Accept only what better sense recognizes will suit the day and good purpose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mars, favorable, suggests that you put forth the very best efforts possible, but without overtaxing yourself. Just that one extra try may turn the tide for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Because you did not succeed before at what you believed a worthwhile endeavor does not mean you will not now — IF it is still worthwhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Matters may get off to a quick start in the a.m. Look carefully over your system, methods; try harder for surer satisfaction. The effort alone will reward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Mixed planetary influences. Right plans and moves at the right times and places will keep you in the lead for gains, with ease of effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good Neptune influences favor normal routine, as well as the launching of new enterprises. Deliberate, then act. Try a master stroke.

YOU BORN TODAY are a shy, retiring type, ever avoiding the limelight and often deliberately seeking positions which will keep you out of the public eye. Your nature, however, is one of great intensity and you have a deep love of beauty and the arts. You are introspective and, should you choose music as a career, or composition, this trait would evidence itself in the depths of your work. You probably would not be a great success in the commercial world but any creative outlet for your emotions would bring not only fine accomplishment but great happiness. Birthdate of: Dudley Buck, Amer. composer.

Register Watercraft Early

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) today urged Ohio boaters to register their watercraft early this year.

According to Norv Hall, Chief of ODNR's Division of Watercraft, the Division is working to eliminate some of the red tape involved in registering boats.

He explained that a bill written by ODNR will be forwarded to the Ohio General Assembly, which will provide for mailing renewal registrations directly to boaters on a triennial schedule. To further simplify the process for boaters, the proposed legislation would not require the registration of outboard motors.

"Due to the manual processing of registration forms, it takes the average boater several months to record his registration property with the Division of Watercraft," Hall said.

"To assure that the new system will be efficiently phased into the present system, it is essential that boaters provide accurate and current addresses and information when registering their boats for 1977. Early registrations will aid in phasing in the new system."

The 1976 registration expired March 1. This year's boat and motor registrations are available from agents throughout the state.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registrations are: outboard hulls, rowboats, canoes, barges or rafts, $1; sailboats and outboard motors, $3; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines less than 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard powercraft and sailboats with auxiliary inboard engines 100 horsepower or more, $10.

A writing fee of 50 cents, in addition to the regular fee, is charged by the licensing agents for each registration issued.

Temporary 21-day registrations for both boats and outboard motors are available for boaters wanting to use their boats immediately, but experiencing difficulty in obtaining a permanent registration.

Boaters registering boats 14 feet or longer and motors 10 horsepower and more, must present their title to get a registration. Watercraft titles are stamped annually at the time of registration, just as automobile titles are.

Those individuals who acquire boats before Jan. 1, 1964 when the state's watercraft title law became effective, are not required to present a title when registering the craft.

Another incentive to obtain boat and motor registrations early, Hall pointed out, is that the registration fees do not reduce throughout the year as does the auto registration fee.

In Pickaway County, there are two licensed officials who will register your watercraft: Kenneth Kingery, Area Manager at A.W. Marion State Park, R.F.D. 5, Circleville. His Phone number is 474-3386.

You may also go to Thomas R. Elsea, Circleville Mobile Homes, 1265 N. Court St. His phone number is 474-5710.

Tigers Drop Tough Tilt To Mifflin

KNEE HIGH — Mifflin's Gregory Milton (41) drives for the buckets and clears the path with his knee in the District contest against Circleville. However, he was called for charging on the play as he hit Circleville's Brent Wright (54). Other Tigers are: Toren Bensonhaver (42) and Tom Taylor (14).

After playing state ranked Mifflin to a standstill for the first half, Circleville ran into a disastrous third quarter that proved to be the turning point in the game as the Tigers dropped a 53-42 decision to the Punchers in District play Tuesday night at Ohio Wesleyan before a large turnout of Circleville fans.

Refusing to recognize the fact that they were going against a state ranked power, the Tigers battled hard and refused to give an inch as they only trailed by two points, 28-26, at half-time.

But, suddenly fate turned on the Tigers in the third quarter and Mifflin was quick to take advantage of it.

Toren Bensonhaver hit on a driving layup at 7:23 into the period to knot the count at 28-28, after falling behind, 20-14, in the first quarter.

However, the rest of the canto was unbelievable as the Tigers put up eight more shots and failed to light the scoreboard again.

While the Red and Black had to settle for the one bucket in the frame,

Mifflin netted four to grab a 36-28 edge at the buzzer.

Circleville still refused to "say die" and pulled within five points of the Punchers at the beginning of the fourth canto.

But, despite the fact that the Tigers kept battling, they just couldn't overtake the powerful Punchers who opened the gap and gained a berth in the District finals against Hamilton Twp., who defeated Lakewood, 72-59, 7 p.m. Wednesday at Ohio Wesleyan with the winner moving into the Athens Regional.

The Tigers sticky man to man defense and Mifflin's press and half court defense took their toll and were a big factor in the contest as the Red and Black were forced into 32 turnovers and the Punchers 27.

Another key to the contest was the lack of trips to the foul line by both teams. Circleville was four of nine for 44 per cent while Mifflin netted 5 of 11 for 45 per cent.

Mifflin did not step to the foul line for its first foul attempt until the 3:46

JUST WRIGHT — That's what Circleville's Brent Wright was as he goes high in the air to grab a rebound. Brent played a fine game in the Tigers 53-42 loss to Mifflin in the District action at Ohio Wesleyan. Other Tigers in the picture are: Frank Merrill (22) and Eric Pontious (34).

mark of the fourth quarter.

Brent Wright turned in a great performance for the Tigers as he went up against Mifflin's 6-foot-7 center Marvin Walker and outplayed him.

Wright held the high scoring Walker to two baskets, both on follows on missed shots, hit four of six from the floor and won the battle of the boards with Walker, nine to five.

Toren Bensonhaver led the Tigers with 14 points, Wright added eight, Frank Merrill and Tom Taylor each netted six, Roy Huffer hit four and Tim Milstead and Mark Albright each had two.

Gregory Milton paced Mifflin with 14 points, Chris Taylor added 12, Charles Smith netted seven, Bruce Howard and Quentin Little each had four.

Circleville was 19 of 37 from the floor for 51 per cent and Mifflin duplicated the feat with 24 of 47 for 51 per cent.

The Tigers took honors on the boards as they hauled down 25 missed shots while Mifflin managed to pull down 20 rebounds.

"I'm as proud as I can be of our men," Circleville coach Jim Bailey commented. "I call them men because that's what they were tonight. They played as hard as a team could play and never backed off a lick."

"The story of the game was pretty simple — We couldn't buy a basket in the second half. Mifflin deserves credit for its defense and discipline on offense. If we would have had a normal shooting night it might have been different — But, that is history."

"It was a great group of young men and everyone contributed to our season. We will miss our seniors, Rusty Holbrook, Frank Merrill, Tim Milstead, Eric Pontious, Tom Taylor and Brent Wright but will have a fine group of juniors coming back with Mark Albright, Mark Beck, Toren Bensonhaver, Mike Brudzinski, Dave Cherrington, Mike Cox, Mike Edgington, Dave Holbrook and Roy Huffer," Bailey stated.

Circleville ended the season with an overall mark of 13-8 and a Sectional championship. The Tigers finished in third place in the South Central Ohio League with a mark of 7-5.

Illinois State Whips Creighton

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Illinois State rediscovered basketball after a full half of its first post-season game. Now, says Coach Gene Smithson, bring on the best.

The towering Redbirds, cold after a 10-day layoff, sputtered through the first half but surged back and whipped Creighton 65-58 in a mistake-riddled first-round National Invitational Tournament game Tuesday night.

Illinois State won a berth in the NIT quarter-finals at New York next week. Smithson, whose team's 22-6 record includes a victory over fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, gives his club a good chance in the tournament.

"We can play with anybody in the country," Smithson said. "We've proved that. We didn't play a real good game tonight. The layoff hurt us. We weren't sharp."

Illinois turned the ball over 13 times in the first half and missed 25 field goal attempts on the way to a frigid 32 per cent shooting average and a deficit of 32-28.

But Creighton was hampered when 6-foot-8 center Rick Apke, its leading scorer, got into early foul trouble. Illinois State mounted a second-half surge when Apke drew his fourth foul shortly after intermission.

Although Creighton pulled within one point on the strength of a 10-point streak by John Johnson, the surge ended when Apke fouled out at 5:57 with the score 53-52. The game ended with a rash of fouls as Creighton tried to break an Illinois State slowdown.

Illinois State was led by 7-foot center Jeff Wilkins, who dominated the boards and finished with 21 points. Johnson had with a game-high 22 points, and Apke, who brought a 20-2-point average into the game, had only seven.

Creighton, which edged into the national rankings in the second half of the season, finished with four straight losses and a 21-7 record.

NIT action continues tonight with Indiana State at Houston, Georgetown at Virginia Tech, Oregon at Oral Roberts and Villanova at Old Dominion.

Meanwhile, in a light night on the college basketball schedule Tuesday, 18th-ranked University of North Carolina-Charlotte defeated Jacksonville 74-69 in the Sun Belt tournament.

UNC-Charlotte has to meet New Orleans, which beat Georgia State 86-66, for the tournament title before moving on to the NCAA Midwest Regional at Bloomington, Ind.

In first-round action at the NAIA tournament, Alcorn State beat Mount Marty 90-54, Clarion State nipped Augsburg, Minn. 88-84 in overtime, East Texas State topped Briar Cliff 70-59, Emporia State clipped Fairmont State 76-71, Henderson State beat Tri-State 64-54, Illinois Wesleyan downed St. Augustine's 87-67, and Texas Southern ripped Central State, Ohio 89-65.

Bob Gaillard Named Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Gaillard, who led the San Francisco Dons to their best basketball season since the Bill Russell years of the mid-1950s, was named The Associated Press College Coach of the Year today.

Gaillard, a low-key coach who encourages informality, won the award as easily as his team won games this season, more than doubling the score of his nearest competitor.

Balloting from sports writers and broadcasters around the country supplied Gaillard with 120 votes while runnerup Eddie Owens of Arkansas collected 52.

Carl Tacy of Wake Forest was third in the voting with a score of 30, while UCLA's Gene Bartow had 20 and Kentucky's Joe Hall 15 to round out the top five.

Gaillard's team is considered unusual because of the modish young leader's approach to coaching. There is no curfew on any occasion and Gaillard himself brags about the Dons being a "very virile, girl-loving team." He voices no concern if a player keeps late hours.

Explaining his unique philosophy, Gaillard says: "My obligation is to make the guys reach their potential, be competitive and have fun."

Guard Chubby Cox says the lack of curfew "allows us to be our own men. When you're given the opportunity to be your own man, you have more go, more self-pride. No one takes advantage of it."

Gaillard likes to contrast himself with coaches on the other end of the spectrum, the kind he calls "Marine sergeants."

"I'm as, or more, competitive than any of those guys. I just don't have to prove it. A lot of coaches live their competitiveness through their team. I don't."

Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles has won 20 or more games in six of the past seven American League seasons.

The Milwaukee Brewers open their home baseball season against the Baltimore Orioles on April 12.

Cave, Wright Named Central District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Herb Williams, Columbus Marion-Franklin's 6-foot-11 senior, and Jene Davis of second-ranked Columbus

CHUCK CAVE

Linden-McKinley are The Associated Press' choices for the top awards in Ohio Central District high school basketball.

BRENT WRIGHT

A district board of sports writers and broadcasters tapped Williams, an agile center who averaged 25 points, for the Class AAA Player of the Year. They voted Davis the Class AAA area Coach of the Year after he led the Panthers to 18 consecutive victories and the Columbus City League championship.

Marquis Miller, a 6-6 senior forward who averaged 19 points and led Columbus St. Charles to the Central Catholic League title, earned area Class AA Player of the Year laurels.

John Smith, leading Columbus Mifflin to a 15-3 record and City League contention, collected the Class AA Coach of the Year honors.

Morrill Ridgedale, the state poll champion, swept the district Class A titles, Dan Wendell being named the No. 1 coach after a 16-1 regular season and 6-1 junior Brad Weston the top player with a 21.4 point average.

Williams and Todd Penn of Linden, a 5-9 guard who was first all-state last season, lead a five-man Class AAA district all-star unit. Penn averaged 20.5 points. His pinpoint passing was just as instrumental for the Panthers.

Joining them on the first team were 6-4 senior Chris Ash of Newark, 17.2 points per game; 6-5 senior Dave Stough of Grove City, 23.0, and 6-3 senior Sterling Williams of Linden, 15.

On the second team were 6-2

Columbus Whetstone senior Joe Miller, 26 points a contest; 6-5 Columbus Franklin Heights junior Mike Saxton, 18.2; 5-8 Newark senior Chris Franga, 17.6; 6-1 Marion-Franklin senior Delbert Miller, 20.5, and 6-2 senior Paul Chadwell of Galloway Westland, 20.6.

Miller is part of a AA district first team that includes 6-4 Bexley senior Larry Wilson, 18.8; 6-2 Mount Gilead senior Kent Baker, 26.2; 6-2 Mifflin senior Dewey Milton, 16.0, and 5-10 Johnstown senior Jeff Kessler, 21.6.

Second team AA selections were 6-1 Johnstown senior Rich Reed, 24.2; 6-3 Hebron Lakewood junior Jay Davison, 20.6; 6-4 Logan Elm senior Chuck Cave, 21.0; 6-6 Pickerington senior Rob Roesch, 19.0; 6-3 Hamilton Township senior Tom Motika, 20.0, and 6-4 Circleville senior Brent Wright, 14.2.

On the district A No. 1 unit with Weston were 6-4 Danville senior Mike Workman, 18.0; 5-11 Johnstown Northridge senior Dave Wells, 20.5; 6-4 Cardington senior Mike Rengert, 20.1, and 6-2 Sparta Highland senior Jeff Jahn, 24.0.

Second team picks were Kevin Flewellen, 6-1 Licking Heights senior with a 20.5 average; 6-2 Canal Winchester senior Neal Seymour, 19.0; 5-9 Berne Union senior Keith Riggs, 16.1; 5-11 Liberty Union sophomore Rudy Reed, 18.0, and 5-9 New Albany sophomore Ron Stewart, 24.0.

Jim Kerns Recalls Happiest Words

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — All it took for Jim Kern, the Cleveland Indians' tall righthanded relief ace, to make his first full major league season last year a memorable one was "the right word from (Manager) Frank Robinson."

The "right word" came near the end of spring training a year ago when the hard-throwing pitcher still didn't know where he stood.

"We had a good pitching staff already that was going to be hard to crack," Kern mused here the other day.

"I guess I threw real well, but it didn't look like there was going to be any room for Jim Kern. It was close to the final outdow and I still didn't know what plane to take.

"So I asked Robby where I should send my wife, to Toledo (Cleveland's top minor league team in the Class AAA International League) or where? He said send her to Cleveland. That made my year."

Willis Reed Slated As Knicks Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — A white banner bearing a bright orange 19 hangs from the ceiling at Madison Square Garden, flanked by banners honoring the New York Knicks' 1970 and 1973 championship teams. No. 19, the only uniform the Knicks ever have retired, belonged to Willis Reed, the captain and bulwark of those two title teams and the man teammate Bill Bradley described as "the player boss."

Reed is expected to become "the boss" today. The New York Knicks scheduled a news conference, and the news was expected to be that Reed would take over from Coach Red Holzman next season.

Graig Nettles played 158 games for the New York Yankees in 1976.

Hawks Edge Philadelphia

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sport Writer

John Drew knows a good thing when he sees one. And he is not bashful when it comes to telling the world about it. "I think I made a great shot," said the brash young forward of the Atlanta Hawks, whose 30-foot jumper at the buzzer beat the Philadelphia 76ers 99-98 Tuesday night.

"All my shots are great shots — if they go in!"

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue thought his team did all it could to stop Drew, who led the Hawks with 30 points.

"Our defense was absolutely perfect on that play," he said. "It was a forced shot, deep on the floor. We had him doubleteamed and he had two hands in his face. It was just a matter of taking a shot and praying."

Drew credited the capacity crowd of 15,821 at the Omni — only the second sellout in the Hawks' five years there — with an assist on his winning basket.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night, the Detroit Pistons nipped the Milwaukee Bucks 109-107, the Buffalo Braves beat the Portland Trail Blazers 102-95, the Denver Nuggets defeated the New York Knicks 114-108, the San Antonio Spurs topped the Phoenix Suns 122-115, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the New Orleans Jazz 96-91, and the Golden State Warriors downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 112-102.

All-America Cage Team Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Dean Smith calls him the best guard in America, college or pro. What does Phil Ford think about that?

He doesn't think about that. "Individual honors are meaningless unless the team wins," says the North Carolina star. "There are no prima donnas on this team and that's the way I like it."

Perhaps Ford will not recognize his individual talents, but the nation's sports writers and broadcasters did Tuesday when they voted him to the 1977 Associated Press All-America basketball team.

Ford was joined on The AP's first team by forwards Marques Johnson of UCLA and Bernard King of Tennessee, guard Rickey Green of Michigan and center Kent Benson of Indiana.

Ford, who helped the U.S. Olympic team win a gold medal at Montreal last summer, did equally well for the Tar Heels this winter. Orchestrating Smith's famed "Four Corner" offense with his gifted ball-handling ability, the 6-foot-2 junior led North Carolina to the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

Among his statistics are a 19-point scoring average, shooting marks of 55 per cent from the field and 84 per cent from the free throw line, and nearly seven assists a game.

Johnson scored the highest point total among the top five in the nationwide voting. Johnson had 824 points on the basis of five for the first team and three for second. Green was the second leading point-getter with 521. Ford collected 480, Benson 423 and King 389.

Benson was the only repeater from last year's first team. Ford was a second-team All-America in 1976 and King was on the AP's third team. King barely edged teammate Ernie Grunfeld for first-team honors.

On the second team along with Grunfeld, a forward who had 381 points, were San Francisco center Bill Cartwright, Houston guard Otis Birdsong, Minnesota center Mike Thompson and Marquette guard Butch Lee.

The third team included Rod Griffin of Wake Forest, Wayne "Tree" Rollins of Clemson, Phil Hubbard of Michigan, Bo Ellis of Marquette and Freeman Williams of Portland State.

Cleveland Signs Carty And Fosse

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran infielder-designated hitter Bill Melton remained the only member of the Cleveland Indians not under contract for the 1977 season, after General Manager Phil Seghi signed veterans Rico Carty and Ray Fosse Tuesday.

Carty, whose contract had been renewed Monday with an automatic 20 per cent pay cut, agreed to a two-year pact with the Indians believed to be worth about $220,000.

Fosse's one-year agreement calls for a salary believed to be in the neighborhood of $75,000, which represents a raise of about $20,000 over his pay in 1976.

Boston Bruins Beat Atlanta Flames, 3-2

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

"This week," said Atlanta Flames Coach Fred Creighton, "could be our season."

Creighton spoke not only for his club but for a number of others in the National Hockey League — some teams struggling to retain playoff spots they currently hold, others striving to unseat the teams ahead of them.

The Flames, third in the NHL's Patrick Division, lost again Tuesday night — dropping a 3-2 decision to the Boston Bruins and going winless for the 17th time in the last 22 games. They remained four points ahead of the New York Rangers, who haven't done much better over the same period.

Meanwhile, the surging Minnesota North Stars beat the New York Islanders 3-1 for their third straight

Pete Rose Stands Firm On Demands

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Toughminded Pete Rose, a sure bet for baseball's Hall of Fame, is digging in for the most difficult stand-off in a career that spans 17 years and 2,184 games.

His pride wounded by a bitter salary dispute, the Cincinnati star is prepared to sever his long-standing love affair with his hometown team.

Rose, baseball's eternal child at 36, may end up as the most celebrated entry in 1977's free agent market next October.

He has convinced his closest friends he is ready to make the jump.

The three-time National League batting champion has taken the firmest stance of five unsigned members of the world champions.

Simply put, Rose feels he is worth more money than the Reds are offering.

"Everything I've ever done in Cincinnati uniform has been to help Cincinnati win," said Rose, one of the game's most popular players and the only man ever named to four positions in All-Star competition.

The Reds announced Tuesday that the contract dispute remains deadlocked.

General Manager Dick Wagner said the Reds plan to automatically renew the contracts of any players not signed by Thursday. That means the unsigned members of the team could have their salaries cut 20 per cent and become free agents at the end of the season, if terms are not reached.

Wagner said Rose has been offered contracts up to three years in length. The Reds are reportedly offering $250,000 a year, but Rose is said to be seeking a package close to the $1.2 million three-year pact paid to teammate Joe Morgan.

Rose doesn't buy the argument that singles hitters aren't worth large salaries.

"If you think that you are tops in your profession, and I feel that I am that close, you ought to be paid a top salary," Rose said. "If $80,000 was the top salary when Babe Ruth was playing and I was playing then, then I think I should be paid near that," said the Reds tentative all-star, who has batted .300 in 11 of his last 12 years.

Clean-Up Set In Darbyville

Darbyville residents will have until May 15 to clean-up their property, council members learned at the regular Monday meeting.

Failure to comply with the order, which was mandated by an ordinance passed in 1964, will result in a fine, Mayor Marietta Knece said.

In other business, council scheduled the annual Memorial Day service 11 a.m. May 30 at the Darbyville Cemetery. Speakers will be the Rev. Jack Lewis and the Rev. Leonard Gabbart.

The next meeting of council will be April 4 at 7:30 p.m.

We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on!

We've lowered our rate on any loan that'll help save energy.

The energy crisis is not going to go away.

That's why every BancOhio bank has set aside funds at special rates to help Ohio save energy.

We've reduced our interest rates on any home improvement loan that can help save energy. Don't wait for next winter to do something about it. Add insulation to walls and attic. Install a new furnace or have your old one reconditioned. Have storm windows and doors installed. Warm up your floors with new carpeting. Keep the cold out with new siding.

Even repair damage already caused by this year's severe winter.

We want to make it as easy as possible for you to help save energy. Apply for your Energy-Saver Loan now. And funds will be available when you are ready to make that needed energy-saving home improvement. You'll not only add comfort and value to your home, but with our Energy-Saver Loan, you'll save money.

Come in and talk with us. We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on.

Four People Injured In Accident

Four people suffered injuries in a two-car accident on N. Court St. Tuesday night.

Treated at the scene of the 10:05 p.m. accident by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team and at Berger Hospital by emergency room personnel were Alice F. Richards, 20, 11584 1/2 Hedges St., Ashville, who suffered a sprained right ankle, and Edward L. Richards, 23, who suffered a muscle strain to his back.

Referred to doctors for treatment were Lee Roy Conrad, 21, 162 Villa Drive, who suffered a laceration to his finger, and Bradford Hill, 22, 66 Bolens Ave., who suffered bruises to his knee.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff J. Phillip Brown said Conrad was driving north on N. Court St. and Mrs. Richards was driving south.

She apparently did not see the Conrad vehicle and attempted to make a left turn into the parking lot of the Lawson Store.

Conrad's car skidded 25 feet before crashing into the side of the Richards vehicle.

Mrs. Richards was charged with failing to yield the right of way.

Conrad's car, a 1977 Chevrolet Corvette with less than 500 miles, suffered severe damage.

Stoutsville Plans Water Questionnaire

Stoutsville Village Council met in regular session Monday with Mayor Ellsworth Wright presiding.

Dick Riffle was present to discuss the water survey which is being conducted by a Citizens Committee. A letter and questionnaire has been drafted and will be given to all residents of the village and some outlying areas.

William Martin noted that new crystals for police cruiser communication were necessary and also a new siren was needed. Purchase of the items was authorized.

Charles Harrison reported on a meeting he had attended with regards to assistance being requested by Fairfield County Commissioners for home insulation purposes.

The Marshal's report for February stated that 34 hours had been spent with a total mileage of 142 miles. They investigated 2 breaking and enterings, 1 burglary, 4 domestic problems, and issued 1 warning ticket.

In attendance in addition to the Mayor were council members Charles Harrison, William Martin, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer, clerk Mary E. Meyer, Street Commissioner Bob Harrison, Deputy Marshall Rick Smith and Regional Planning representative Dick Riffle.
